

The Agreed Syllabus for Religious Education in Surrey Schools 2023-2028

EYFS to Post-16

Foreword by the Chair of Surrey SACRE

It gives me immense pleasure to introduce the 2023 Agreed Syllabus for Religious Education for Surrey Schools. This syllabus aims to give the children and young people of Surrey a deep understanding and appreciation of both their own and others' beliefs so that they are well prepared, 'to take their place in a diverse multi-religious and multi-secular society.'¹

This new Agreed Syllabus has been developed after an extensive amount of focussed work by teachers and school leaders, as well as members of Surrey's Standing Advisory Council on Religious Education (SACRE). I have had the privilege of participating in the various working groups and am grateful to all contributors for their many hours of deliberation. It is important to highlight the sterling work of Rachel Boxer, the RE adviser to Surrey SACRE: her dedication to the vision of this new syllabus has been inspiring.

This syllabus takes into account the most recent changes in policy and research. Extensive work has been done to ensure that there is a structural coherence to the curriculum, with a clear sequence of learning from Early Years to Key stage 4. There are frequent opportunities built into the syllabus, such as through core concepts and key vocabulary, to embed pupils' knowledge and understanding into their long-term memory.

There is a lot of inspiring RE teaching taking place in Surrey and I hope that this new Agreed Syllabus will further extend this excellent work. Finally, I would like to pay tribute to the hard work of all those involved and commend this syllabus to you.

Liz Bowes Chair of the Children, Families, Lifelong Learning and Culture Select Committee.

The Surrey Agreed Syllabus (2023-2028) is dedicated to the memory of Deborah Drury, a teacher-member of Surrey SACRE for over 20 years, who worked on 5 agreed syllabus revisions. Deborah's desire was that every child would be a beneficiary of, and would be engaged with, excellent teaching – especially in Religious Education, a subject for which she had a passion, in Surrey and elsewhere. She thought it was important for children to think about the big topics of life, the world, other people and God, in order they would become better equipped for life both inside and outside of the school environment. Deborah modelled how pupils were to engage with other people who may or may not agree with them: with clarity, cohesive argument and kindness – and a sense of humour. We will miss her wisdom, her faith and her positivity, but she leaves a legacy in the pages of this syllabus.

THE PURPOSE OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

Religious Education contributes dynamically to pupils' and students' education in schools by provoking challenging questions about meaning and purpose in life, beliefs (religious and non-religious), issues of right and wrong and what it means to be human. In RE they learn about and from worldviews, including Christianity and other principal religions and beliefs (including non-religious perspectives such as Humanism) in local, national and global contexts, to discover, explore and consider different answers to these questions. The term 'worldviews' is frequently used in this syllabus and the supporting materials to refer to the way in which someone views the world, which will include beliefs, practices and ways of life and reflect diversity in people's lived experience.

Pupils and students learn to weigh up the value of wisdom from different sources, to develop and express their insights in response, and to agree or disagree respectfully. Teaching therefore should equip them with systematic knowledge and understanding of a range of worldviews, beliefs, concepts and practices, enabling them to develop their ideas, values and identities (personal knowledge).

Religious Education should also develop in pupils and students an aptitude for dialogue so that they can participate positively in our society with its diversity of beliefs. They learn to articulate clearly and coherently their personal beliefs, ideas, values and experiences, whilst respecting the right of others to differ. Religious Education supports pupils and students in developing their sense of identity and belonging and enables them to flourish individually within their communities and as citizens in a diverse world.

This Agreed Syllabus takes into account:

- legal requirements
- local and national factors
- the age, aptitude, ability and experience of pupils
- the views of the local community, including parents
- educational rigour and challenge

Therefore, in Surrey, our AIMS FOR RE are:

To enable pupils to:

- demonstrate an appreciation of the nature of worldviews and the important contribution of religion and belief, spiritual insights and values to the individual's search for meaning in life;
- recognise that someone's worldview, including their own, can be influenced by many factors and is an intrinsic part of how they view the world;
- develop knowledge and understanding of Christianity, and of the other principal religions and beliefs represented in Great Britain, through their history, contemporary diverse expressions and encountering peoples' lived experience;
- develop interest in and enthusiasm for the study of worldviews and enhance their own spiritual, moral, social and cultural development;
- develop the ability to make reasoned, informed and creative responses to religious and moral issues;
- recognise the influence of beliefs, values and traditions on the individual, on culture and on communities throughout the world.

Within these introductory pages of the syllabus are sections outlining key skills and attitudes that are at the heart of good Religious Education, as well as how RE supports pupils' spiritual, moral, social and cultural (SMSC) development, including British Values.

THE LEGAL FRAMEWORK

The national curriculum states the legal requirement that: 'Every state-funded school must offer a curriculum which is balanced and broadly based, and which promotes the spiritual, moral, cultural, mental and physical development of pupils, and prepares pupils at the school for the opportunities, responsibilities and experiences of later life.' In addition, it states that 'All state schools... must teach religious education... All schools must publish their curriculum by subject and academic year online.' (The national curriculum in England: Framework document, Sept. 2013, page 4)

The legal basis of RE in the curriculum of maintained schools

In accordance with the Education Reform Act (1988) every maintained school in England must provide a basic curriculum (RE, sex education and the National Curriculum). This includes provision for RE for all registered pupils at the school (including students in post-sixteen provision within schools), except for those withdrawn by their parents (or withdrawing themselves if they are aged 18 or over) in accordance with Schedule 19 to the School Standards and Framework Act 1998. (Religious Education in English Schools: Non-statutory guidance 2010) In this Agreed Syllabus, the term 'pupils' refers to children up to the end of KS4, and 'students' to those in sixth form. As in the 1944 Education Act (30 RE), teachers' rights are safeguarded, should they wish to withdraw from the teaching of RE.

Since 1944, all maintained schools (including Voluntary Controlled schools or their equivalent) must deliver their RE curriculum in line with their locally Agreed Syllabus. Voluntary Aided schools (or their equivalent) deliver RE in accordance with the school's designated religion or denomination, or in certain cases the trust deed relating to the school. Academies and Free Schools are required to teach RE through their funding agreement. For academies without a religious character this will be an Agreed Syllabus. A school in a Federation or a Multi-Academy Trust would normally continue to deliver RE based on their previous designation. It is only if, on application to the DfE, their status is changed, that the type of RE delivered may then alter.

The locally Agreed Syllabus must be consistent with Section 375 \(3\) of the Education Act 1996, which requires the syllabus to 'reflect that the religious traditions of Great Britain are in the main Christian whilst taking account of the teaching and practices of the other principal religions represented in Great Britain'. The 2023 revision of the Surrey Agreed Syllabus also takes into account recommendations outlined in the non-statutory National Curriculum Framework for RE \(REC, Oct 2013\), Ofsted's RE Research Review \(May 2021\) and decisions made by Surrey SACRE about multi-disciplinary approaches to learning about worldviews within Religious Education.

An Agreed Syllabus 'must not be designed to convert pupils or students, or to urge a particular religion or belief on them' (see Education Act 1944, Section 26 (2)).

The Education Act 1993 requires that an Agreed Syllabus conference must be convened every five years to review the existing agreed syllabus. This Agreed Syllabus was agreed by Surrey SACRE and adopted by the Local Authority for implementation from September 2023.

Wherever possible, useful documents for reference are hyperlinked within this syllabus.

TIME FOR RE

As with all curriculum subjects, there are no statutory requirements for time allocation. This Agreed Syllabus has been drawn up based on the expectation of the minimum time allocations outlined below. This means that if significantly less time is allocated to RE then the statutory requirements of the Agreed Syllabus cannot be met. This syllabus sets no time allocation for Early Years' pupils, but schools will need to ensure that the statutory content is given appropriate coverage through their EYFS provision.

- Key Stage 1 (yrs 1&2): 36 hours per year (72 hours over the Key Stage)
- Key Stage 2 (yrs 3-6): 45 hours per year (180 hours over the Key Stage)
- Key Stage 3 (yrs 7-9): 45 hours per year (135 hours over the Key Stage)
- Key Stage 4 (yrs 10-11): 40 hours per year (80 hours over the Key Stage)

In addition, this syllabus recommends 18 hours per year for the teaching of Religious Education at 16+.

Collective Worship is not part of the “taught day” and is not counted as part of the recommended allocation of curriculum time for teaching this Agreed Syllabus. However, there are some profitable links between RE and collective worship, which some schools may wish to explore.

WHAT HAS CHANGED SINCE THE LAST REVISION IN 2017?

The National Curriculum Framework for RE (Religious Education Council) was published in 2013 for SACREs to use as part of any syllabus revisions they might make. Much of that document has shaped this revised syllabus for Surrey, as it did the previous version.

There have also been several significant reports published since the last review, and so recommendations made in these key documents have been considered by SACRE and relevant changes made to our Agreed Syllabus during the process of revision. Whilst space doesn't permit a summary of each, they are listed below, and hyperlinked to original sources:

- Balanced RE (Church of England Education Office, March 2018), used in the Norfolk Agreed Syllabus (2019)
- Religion and Worldviews – the way forward (CoRE, Commission on RE, 2018)
- Revised Ofsted Framework (September 2019)
- Worldview – a multidisciplinary report (REC, 2020)
- Worldviews in Religious Education (THEOS, October 2020)
- Ofsted's RE Research Review (May 2021)
- Worldviews Project - DRAFT (REC, May 2022)

Although this final research document is a draft only, it reflects the expected trajectory for RE in the future, so it is likely that this will have more of an influence over the next statutory revision. We are also very grateful to Canterbury and Rochester Dioceses who initiated the 'Golden Threads' idea, developed through this syllabus.

You can see a summary of the major influences across the revision over the next few sections: 'What has influenced this revision?', 'What do we mean by 'worldviews' and personal knowledge?', 'Approaches to learning in RE' and 'What's different in this revision?'

WHAT HAS INFLUENCED THIS REVISION?

The language of worldviews and the recommendations in regard to curriculum design in the Ofsted RE Research Review have been major influences in the revisions to the syllabus. The revision process focused on three key elements highlighted in the research review:

what it means to get better at RE, across three types of knowledge: 'substantive' knowledge (content); 'disciplinary' knowledge or 'ways of knowing' (how pupils learn to learn in RE); and 'personal' knowledge, which reflects the language of worldviews, helping pupils to think about where their and others' ideas come from and what influences them;

how content is sequenced to give pupils an overall conception of worldviews (religious & non-religious), building on and developing prior learning. Sequencing is especially important when introducing sensitive or controversial issues, starting with the similarities / common ground before introducing the differences and the controversy; building pupils' schemata within units and across their learning in RE, helping pupils to make links, and (as teachers) being aware of how this develops within the RE curriculum.

In this way, the curriculum becomes the progression model, enabling pupils to make progress through the phases in what they study. Ofsted suggest that what's included should be 'collectively enough' to give pupils an overall impression of a religion or belief.

WHAT DO WE MEAN BY 'WORLDVIEWS' AND PERSONAL KNOWLEDGE?

Whilst the subject is still called Religious Education in statute, the syllabus often uses the term 'worldviews' in the development of pupils' subject knowledge. This term has been widely used in recent reports as being more inclusive and accurate, reflecting the reality that everyone has a worldview, a way of viewing the world. Someone's worldview may have a number of influences, including religious or non-religious beliefs and factors such as culture, personal identity, geographical context, age, family and education (to name just a few!), which in turn has an impact on how they live. Whilst people may consciously align their beliefs with 'organised' worldviews like Christianity or Humanism, their worldview is also influenced by 'personal' worldviews, the beliefs and hidden assumptions which shape how each individual sees the world. What this means for this syllabus is NOT adding more content to reflect this infinite diversity, but creating the opportunity for pupils to appreciate that diversity and approach it with understanding, exploring and challenging their and others' thinking as they engage with the RE content.

It is this that Ofsted references as personal knowledge: the development of pupils' thinking and skills, which enable them to understand their own worldview, what influences it and how it interacts with what they learn in RE, building an awareness of their own presuppositions and values about the religious and non-religious traditions they study, in increasingly complex ways. This is carefully scaffolded through the use of questions in the units of work, in age-appropriate ways.

APPROACHES TO LEARNING IN RE

The 'Balanced RE' (Church of England & Norfolk Agreed Syllabus, 2018) & disciplinary 'lenses' approaches (Dawn Cox blogs, book & podcast, 2021) outline and expand on what Ofsted have subsequently referred to as 'ways of knowing' in RE. In the Primary sections of the syllabus, we have identified these as three Golden Threads: God, relating to theological approaches, Identity, relating to more philosophical approaches & Community, sociological approaches. These Golden Threads are threaded throughout the units of work as part of the syllabus progression model in the way that they develop children's knowledge, understanding and skills from EYFS to KS3, always in age-appropriate ways. In the Secondary section of the syllabus, we switch to the more formal language of theology, philosophy and social sciences, recognising that these are familiar terms for secondary practitioners.

Also important in this revised syllabus is the inclusion of well-crafted questions, reflecting both multi-disciplinary approaches and the development of pupils' personal knowledge. These key questions are designed to help draw out the Golden Threads in ways that connect with the substantive content of the unit. They will also help teachers in shaping the learning across the unit and in assessing what pupils know and can do. These questions are an integral part of the learning, so should not need any editing: spontaneous questions by the teacher do not always lead to the same depth of understanding as carefully prepared questions. Across different units, there will be a different balance of types of question, reflecting the focus of each unit and the appropriate multi-disciplinary approaches.

Pupils' own perspectives should form a part of their learning within the agreed syllabus as part of the development of their personal knowledge: these are consistently reflected in the key questions that support the statutory content, as well as throughout the non-statutory support materials. It's important to state that this is one of the ways in which the changing landscape of belief in Surrey can be reflected, with many more people locally (36.3%) now stating that they have no religion, compared to 57.3% saying they aligned to an established religion, based on the 2021 census data. These findings will of course be replicated within the pupil population of our schools, and so using pupils' starting points is one of the ways in which the syllabus strives to be inclusive of the wide spectrum of religious and non-religious beliefs that are a part of our community.

WHAT IS DIFFERENT IN THIS REVISION?

Listed below are key features of the revised Surrey Agreed Syllabus, indicating which elements are new. Schools should also refer to the introductory pages for each key stage where there is essential guidance to help them to meet statutory requirements and plan their curriculum.

- One syllabus document, showing how the content of one phase builds on the content of another, whilst also recognising that the needs and approaches at each stage may be different.
- Clear visibility of the statutory content, ensuring that schools know what MUST be followed, and what they can adapt. There are also comprehensive non-statutory support materials that will support the teaching of RE in each phase. We strongly encourage teachers to locate and use these materials using the links in their respective phase sections.

- Materials for EYFS which reflect current practice and are linked to the Early Learning Goals, as outlined in the statutory EYFS Framework.
- NEW! The revised syllabus outlines statutory content for all schools in Surrey, including both VC and VA Church of England schools, in order to aid transition between different types of school and into year 7. This decision has been formally approved by the Guildford Diocesan Board of Education at a full board meeting.
- NEW! The language of worldviews as outlined above.
- NEW! The development of personal knowledge for pupils is linked with their learning: key questions throughout the units of work help pupils to use skills and articulate their views, insights and understanding in increasingly sophisticated ways.
- NEW! Concept maps, created in partnership with local faith and belief communities, outline agreed content across the whole of the syllabus, helping to create a bigger picture, for teachers, of different religions and beliefs. These are not the statutory content, but have helped to shape what we have included as statutory content (substantive knowledge) within the syllabus, and can be found with all our support materials. What the substantive knowledge looks like for different ages and stages is described in the units of work as 'sticky knowledge'.
- NEW! Disciplinary knowledge is shaped through key questions reflecting theological, sociological & philosophical approaches (called Golden Threads, 'God', 'Community' and 'Identity', in the Primary phase) and ensures that pupils' learning in RE is not one-dimensional. The layout of each unit has been amended to reflect this change in focus, and it is recommended that teachers read the section 'How is a unit set out?' to fully understand these changes.
- NEW! End of phase expectations for each phase, reflecting the theological, sociological & philosophical approaches, which help teachers to understand & articulate progression through the syllabus.
- NEW! A more flexible approach to content at KS3, enabling schools to design a curriculum that reflects their local context (e.g. set across multiple schools within an academy chain) and the specific needs of their pupils, including transition into provision at KS4.

STATUTORY ENTITLEMENT: BREADTH AND BALANCE

The following worldviews are to be studied at specific key stages. At each key stage, teachers may draw from other worldviews, as appropriate, to recognise and celebrate the diversity of the school community, especially those represented in their own classes. Whilst the focus on worldviews means that pupils will better understand difference and diversity within and across religions it is important that mainstream views and practices are reflected in the units studied.

Early Years Foundation Stage (4-5 year olds)	These are designed to be used as part of continuous provision in EYFS & assessed through the Early Learning Goals.
Thematic – key questions are based upon children’s own lives and experiences, and introduce pupils to Christianity, and other worldviews represented within their own class and / or school.
Key Stage 1 (5-7 year olds)	Introducing the study of and selected key concepts within Christianity, Judaism and Islam , incorporating appropriate elements of non-religious worldviews. There are also thematic units which are designed to draw together learning across a year group & help to build pupils’ schemata.
Key Stage 2 (7-11 year olds)	Units of work in Key Stage 2 are specified for either lower KS2 or upper KS2 to ensure progression.
Developing the study of and building on key concepts within Christianity, Judaism and Islam , and introducing aspects of Hindu (Sanatana) Dharma, Sikhism, Buddhism & Humanism , as a structured non-religious worldview. There are also thematic units , designed to draw together learning across a year group & help to build pupils’ schemata.
Key Stage 3 (11-14 year olds)	Further developing the study of Christianity, Judaism, Islam, Hindu (Sanatana) Dharma, Sikhism, Buddhism and Humanism , including through thematic & worldviews questions. Pupils are also explicitly introduced to philosophical and sociological modes of enquiry. Schools must ensure that the breadth and balance of their curriculum meets statutory requirements.
Key Stage 4 (14-16 year olds)	It is the expectation that pupils follow a GCSE course at KS4.
Further developing the study of Christianity and one other religion in each school year. This will allow for maximum flexibility in order to pursue accredited courses.
Post-16	Schools with pupils aged 16+ are free to choose whichever religious tradition for study. Schools are encouraged to offer accredited courses at A Level, which may include options such as Biblical Studies, World Religions & Philosophy and Ethics.

EXPECTED PROGRESS AT EACH KEY STAGE

In describing progress in RE, the Agreed Syllabus illustrates how pupils will develop increasing understanding through theological, sociological & philosophical approaches to learning, reflected in end of key stage expectations and within units of work. More detail can be found within the introductory pages for each phase and in the accompanying support materials. Schools are encouraged to adapt and expand these statements to help them to devise more school-based assessment descriptors, as they will already have done with other curriculum subjects.

HOW IS A UNIT SET OUT?

NB Each unit covers half a term of learning

As previously, the Agreed Syllabus includes the statutory content (substantive or ‘sticky’ knowledge) within each unit, identified by grey shading. So that schools can plan appropriate learning, there are also recommended key questions reflecting theological, sociological & philosophical approaches (called ‘God’, ‘Community’ and ‘Identity’ in the Primary phase) and guidance about expected attainment as a result of pupils’ learning in each unit. There are also comprehensive non-statutory support materials at each phase, designed to support schools in planning learning for their pupils. For each unit in the Primary phase, this includes detailed vocabulary, a sequence of learning, background teacher knowledge and links to recommended resources.

A Primary unit of work therefore looks like this:

Unit title:	Concept(s):	Key Stage:	Year group:
What’s the purpose of this unit? This sets out the statutory purpose and context for each unit – the unit ‘in a nutshell’. This is then expanded in the ‘sticky knowledge’ section, below
Links across learning In order to access the learning in this unit, pupils should have learnt about.... This section outlines links with prior learning, including reference to specific units or concepts		‘Sticky knowledge’ By the end of this unit, pupils should know that:
Where will pupils’ learning go from here?.... This section indicates where pupils’ learning might go from here, again including reference to specific units		This section of the unit contains the agreed statutory content of the Surrey Agreed Syllabus. Schools must convey this subject content through the learning that they plan. Other elements of the grid are non-statutory, but indicate how the statutory content might be reflected in key questions and outcomes for pupils
Key questions to shape learning The six key questions reflect the multi-disciplinary Golden Threads of ‘ God ’, ‘ Community ’ and ‘ Identity ’ (theology , sociology & philosophy), and should be used to help shape a sequence of learning. These are helpfully colour-coded – and link with the expected outcomes. These are expanded within the support materials into a suggested sequence of learning.		Expected outcomes for this phase: i.e. what will pupils do to show this knowledge? These statements are linked to the key questions, reflecting multi-disciplinary approaches (theology, sociology & philosophy) , and are based on age-appropriate expectations used by the syllabus working group to ensure consistency and progression both within and between phases. The attainment statements may need to be adjusted for pupils working outside of these expectations, or for units at the very start of a school year.

For the Secondary phase, the statutory content is structured as a menu, from which schools should select to build their RE curriculum, recognising that what this looks like may vary greatly from school to school and be dependent on school context. Non-statutory support materials include sample curriculum maps demonstrating ways in which schools might construct their curriculum for KS3. Schools must ensure that the breadth and balance of their curriculum meets statutory requirements, and reflects multi-disciplinary approaches (theology, sociology & philosophy) to pupils’ learning. Please see the Secondary sections of the syllabus for further details.

SKILLS AND PROCESSES TO BE DEVELOPED THROUGH RE

Progress in RE depends upon the development of the following generic learning skills applied to RE. These skills should be used in developing a range of activities for pupils to demonstrate their capabilities in RE. They ensure that teachers will move pupils on from knowledge accumulation and work that is merely descriptive to higher-level thinking and more sophisticated skills.

Reflection – this includes:

- Reflecting on feelings, relationships, experience, ultimate questions, worldviews, beliefs and practices

Empathy – this includes:

- Considering the thoughts, feelings, experiences, attitudes, beliefs and values of others
- Developing the ability to identify feelings such as love, wonder, forgiveness and sorrow
- Seeing the world through the eyes of others, and seeing issues from their point of view (worldview perspective)

Investigation – this includes:

- Asking relevant questions
- Knowing how to gather information from a variety of sources
- Knowing what may constitute evidence for justifying beliefs in religion

Interpretation – this includes:

- Drawing meaning from artefacts, works of art, music, poetry and symbolism
- Interpreting religious language and technical vocabulary
- Suggesting meanings of religious texts

Evaluation – this includes:

- Debating issues of religious significance with reference to evidence and argument

Analysis – this includes:

- Distinguishing between opinion and fact
- Distinguishing between the features of different worldviews

Synthesis – this includes:

- Linking significant features of worldviews, religion and belief together in a coherent pattern
- Connecting different aspects of life into a meaningful whole

Application – this includes:

- Making the association between religion / belief and individual, community, national and international life

Expression – this includes:

- Explaining concepts, rituals and practices
- Expressing personal knowledge / views, and responding to questions of religion and belief through a variety of media

BRITISH VALUES – QUALITIES FOR LIVING TOGETHER HARMONIOUSLY

In 2014, the government set out plans giving all schools the responsibility to promote British values which they identified as being ‘democracy, the rule of law, individual liberty and mutual respect and tolerance’. These originated in its Prevent Strategy (2011) whilst intending to support and complement the Equality Act (2010). A renewed focus on these values led to the DfE placing on schools a legal responsibility, monitored by Ofsted, to actively promote fundamental British values. Schools need to do this through the whole curriculum but especially as part of their spiritual, moral, social and cultural (SMSC) development provision. In November 2014 the DfE produced guidance to support maintained schools in promoting these fundamental British values.

Spiritual, moral, social and cultural (SMSC) development opportunities in schools

A school, irrespective of type, is required to provide opportunities to promote the spiritual, moral, social and cultural (SMSC) development of its pupils/students.

Opportunities exist for SMSC across the whole curriculum and through the whole of school life including, for example:

- within the curriculum – in terms of both the content taught and the activities selected to promote learning. RE plays a key role, alongside personal, social and health education (PSHE) and citizenship, in promoting SMSC but all areas of school life should contribute to SMSC
- school organisation, policies and practices
- behaviour and the quality of relationships evident and encouraged across the school
- through collective worship and in extra-curricular activities

There is obvious overlap between the four areas of SMSC development. However, each dimension has a different emphasis.

Spiritual development

Spiritual development is broadly defined as the non-physical aspects of human life and existence. For some that is linked with belief in the soul and expressed in religious beliefs and practices; for others, not so.

Spiritual development within an educational context is not the same as religious development within a faith context. Ofsted addresses how learners:

- demonstrate being reflective about their own beliefs (religious or otherwise) and how these inform their views on life and living
- show interest in and respect for different beliefs, faiths, feelings and values
- express a sense of enjoyment and fascination with learning about themselves, others and the world around them
- engage creatively in their learning

Specifically, RE provides opportunities to promote spiritual development through:

- discussing and reflecting on questions surrounding worldviews, faith, belief, ethics and morality
- learning about and reflecting on important beliefs, practices and experiences which are axiomatic to religious and non-religious traditions and practices
- considering how beliefs and concepts are expressed culturally and creatively through the arts and human and natural sciences
- considering how worldviews perceive the value of human existence and relationships with each other, the natural world and for some, with God
- enabling students to develop their self-knowledge, self-esteem and self-confidence
- developing their own personal knowledge, which may include views and ideas on religious, philosophical and ethical issues

Moral development

Moral development is about knowing what is right and wrong and acting appropriately on this knowledge. Moral development includes:

- understanding the consequences of behaviours and actions
- having an interest in and offering views on moral and ethical issues
- showing respect for the United Kingdom's civil and criminal law (Ofsted)

Specifically, RE provides opportunities to promote moral development through:

- exploring how beliefs, teachings and sacred texts influence individuals and groups
- thinking about matters of ethical and moral concern
- studying issues that promote respect of race, religion and belief
- distinguishing between what is right and wrong and respecting the civil and criminal law of the UK
- considering the importance of rights and responsibilities and developing social awareness

Social development

Social development is to do with how the individual relates and responds to others. It is to do with:

- developing social skills in different contexts
- exploring how a sense of belonging is expressed in a variety of ways by different groups or communities e.g. volunteering
- developing skills of co-operation and conflict resolution

Specifically, RE provides opportunities to promote social development through:

- considering how religious and other beliefs lead to particular actions and concerns

- addressing issues relating to democratic processes, promoting respect for the basis on which the law is made and applied across the UK, whilst exploring potential tensions with religious laws
- investigating social issues from the perspectives of different worldviews
- recognising diversity and difference as well as the common ground between religions and beliefs
- expressing pupils'/students' personal views on a range of contemporary social issues whilst developing a capacity to consider respectfully the views of others
- acceptance of and engagement with British Values (Ofsted)

Cultural development

Cultural development encourages appreciating, respecting and responding positively to one's own cultural identity as well as that of others.

Cultural development includes providing opportunities for learners to:

- explore and respond to a range of cultural influences on their own and others' lives
- have a willingness to engage with a range of artistic, sporting and aesthetic opportunities
- celebrate cultural heritage and diversity, recognising religious or non-religious influences
- knowledge of Britain's parliamentary system and its role in shaping British society (Ofsted)

Specifically, RE provides opportunities to promote cultural development through:

- encountering people from different worldviews and cultures
- considering cultural diversity within the same religious or non-religious tradition
- promoting tolerance, racial and interfaith harmony and respect for all, combating prejudice and discrimination
- contributing positively to community cohesion and interfaith cooperation

ATTITUDES IN RE

It is vital that Religious Education encourages pupils to develop positive attitudes to their learning and to the beliefs and values of others. The following four attitudes are essential for good learning in RE:

- self-awareness
- respect for all
- open-mindedness
- appreciation and wonder

Self-awareness in Religious Education includes pupils:

- feeling confident about their own worldviews, beliefs and identity and sharing them without fear of embarrassment or ridicule;
- developing a realistic and positive sense of their own worldviews, beliefs, morals and spiritual ideas;
- recognising their own uniqueness as human beings and affirming their self-worth;
- becoming increasingly sensitive to the impact of their ideas and behaviour on other people.

Respect for all in Religious Education includes pupils:

- developing skills of listening and a willingness to learn from others, even when others' views are different from their own (personal knowledge);
- being ready to value difference and diversity for the common good;
- appreciating that some beliefs are not inclusive and considering the issues that this raises for individuals and society;
- being prepared to recognise and acknowledge their own bias (personal knowledge);
- being sensitive to the feelings and ideas of others.

Open-mindedness in Religious Education includes pupils:

- being willing to learn and gain new understanding, including within their own personal knowledge;
- engaging in argument or disagreeing reasonably and respectfully (without belittling or abusing others) about questions relating to worldviews, beliefs, (whether religious or non-religious), morals and spiritual ideas;
- being willing to go beyond surface impressions;
- distinguishing between opinions, viewpoints and beliefs in connection with issues of conviction and faith.

Appreciation and wonder in Religious Education includes pupils:

- developing their imagination and curiosity;
- recognising that knowledge is bounded by mystery;
- appreciating the sense of wonder at the world in which they live;
- developing their capacity to respond to questions of meaning and purpose.

RE subject matter gives particular opportunities to promote an ethos of respect for others, challenge stereotypes and build understanding of other cultures and beliefs. This contributes to promoting a positive and inclusive school ethos that champions democratic values and human rights.

In summary, Religious Education:

- provokes challenging questions about the meaning and purpose of life, worldviews, beliefs, the self, issues of right and wrong, and what it means to be human. It develops pupils' and students' knowledge and understanding of worldviews, including Christianity, other principal religions, and belief traditions that examine these questions, fostering personal reflection and spiritual development;
- encourages pupils and students to explore their own worldviews and beliefs (religious or non-religious), in the light of what they learn, as they examine issues of faith and belief and how these impact on personal, institutional and social ethics; and to express their responses (personal knowledge);
- builds resilience to anti-democratic or extremist narratives and enables pupils and students to build their sense of identity and belonging, which helps them flourish within their communities and as citizens in a diverse society;
- teaches pupils and students to develop respect for others, including people with different faiths and beliefs, and helps to challenge prejudice;
- prompts pupils and students to consider their responsibilities to themselves and to others, and to explore how they might contribute to their communities and to wider society. It encourages empathy, generosity and compassion.

RE can make a significant contribution to promoting equality and tackling discrimination, particularly in its focus on promoting respect for all. The non-statutory National Curriculum Framework for Religious Education, which has been referred to extensively in the preparation of this document, contains many references to the role of Religious Education in challenging stereotypical views and appreciating, positively, differences in others. RE should enable all pupils to consider the impact of people's beliefs on their own actions and lifestyle (personal knowledge). It also highlights the importance of religion and belief and how RE as a subject can develop pupils' and students' self-esteem.

Effectively promoting equality involves teaching a lively, stimulating religious education curriculum that:

- builds on and is enriched by the differing experiences pupils and students bring to Religious Education;
- meets all pupils' and students' learning needs regardless of gender, including those with learning difficulties or who are gifted and talented, those for whom English is an additional language, pupils and students from all religious communities and those from a wide range of ethnic groups and diverse family backgrounds.

To overcome any potential barriers to learning in religious education, some pupils or students may require:

- support to access text, such as through recorded materials or the use of widgets, particularly when working with significant quantities of written materials or at speed;
- help to communicate their ideas through methods other than extended writing, where this is a requirement. For example, pupils may demonstrate their understanding through speech, pictures or the use of ICT (e.g. widgets);
- a non-visual way of accessing sources of information when undertaking research in aspects of Religious Education, for example using audio materials.

RE FOR PUPILS WITH SPECIAL EDUCATIONAL NEEDS AND DISABILITIES

The importance of RE to pupils and students with Special Educational Needs and Disabilities:

Religion is the experience and expression of faith: Religious Education helps pupils to develop an understanding of themselves and others and promotes the spiritual, moral, social and cultural development of individuals and of groups and communities.

In particular, Religious Education offers SEND pupils opportunities to:

- develop their self-confidence and awareness;
- understand the world they live in as individuals and as members of groups;
- bring their own experiences and understanding of life into the classroom;
- develop positive attitudes towards others, respecting their beliefs and experience;
- reflect on and consider their own values and those of others;
- deal with issues that form the basis for personal choices and behaviour.

In response to these opportunities, pupils can make progress in Religious Education:

- by moving from a personal to a wider perspective;
- by increasing their knowledge of worldviews, beliefs, practices and experiences;
- through developing understanding of the meaning of stories, symbols, events and pictures;
- through developing and communicating their individual responses to a range of views.

GUIDANCE ON USING THE AGREED SYLLABUS FOR SEND PUPILS

The programmes of study are set out in Key Stages as appropriate for pupils and students performing at a standard expected for their age range. However, it is recognised that this may not be a realistic expectation for some SEND pupils and students.

The RE curriculum should be appropriate for each pupil's level of understanding and experience. Curriculum planning should be based on the Surrey Agreed Syllabus but teachers should use their professional judgement to select activities and approaches that are appropriate to the developmental level of the pupils or students they teach. This may mean referring to an earlier Key Stage programme of study regardless of chronological age. Nevertheless, teachers should have regard to breadth of study outlined in the age-appropriate key stage. For example, some Secondary age pupils may be working on Buddhism and Sikhism as specified in Key Stage 3-4, but at a Key Stage 1 level of delivery. Teachers should also be free to draw from other worldviews or beliefs, as appropriate, to acknowledge the personal experiences of pupils within the class. In the same way, it may be appropriate to take account of the particular life experiences of individual pupils or refer to current topical issues. RE does not have to be taught on a weekly basis and it may be more appropriate to timetable more flexibly to allow for integrated or block teaching.

For some pupils, Religious Education teaching will involve a pre-Foundation Stage programme of study, focusing on a multi-sensory approach. Teaching will need to focus on communication, relationships and a sensory experience of the world. It should be noted that sensory activities are not an end in themselves, but a means of providing access to early Religious Education teaching. The RE experiences of pupils functioning at very early levels of development are likely to be emotional rather than intellectual. For some pupils it may be difficult to determine what is actually understood from the experiences offered. Nevertheless, it is important that pupils should have opportunities to explore these experiences and find meaning in their own way.

Many pupils with special educational needs find abstract concepts difficult. Therefore, the starting point for RE should be based on personal, concrete and immediate experiences. These are more likely to be relevant and meaningful to the individual. Again, such experiences are not the end product but are intended as a way into teaching explicit Religious Education.

Although progress may be slower than for more able pupils, it should always be the aim to work towards a more demanding level. There is the danger that within RE, activities may become repetitive and undemanding, for pupils with SEND. Progression should be planned for by offering increasingly more sophisticated learning experiences and teaching approaches to reflect the age of the pupil.

This may be reflected in the following ways:

- an increasing emphasis on symbolism in religion and belief;
- beginning to draw comparisons between different worldviews;;
- considering personal responses to religion and belief
- demonstrating the respect for the beliefs of others;
- drawing on pupils’ own life experiences and challenges as ways in to understanding the challenges and life experiences of people with different worldviews.

Learning experiences should allow for the development of the following skills:

Observation	Knowing what to look for and being able to describe what they see without supposition.
Enquiry	Being encouraged to find out more about relationships and the world around them.
Reflection	An opportunity to think about action or belief and consider meaning.
Evaluation	Beginning with own experience and using this knowledge in an attempt to make considered judgements, therefore working towards applying insights and learning new experiences.

Teaching resources need to be carefully chosen to reflect the age of the pupil but also be accessible to them; artefacts are often especially helpful. Commercially available resources are not necessarily appropriate for pupils with special educational needs. Teachers may need to adapt or develop their own, and the use of ICT (e.g. ‘widgets’) is particularly relevant here. Nevertheless, the things which have most personal meaning to some pupils with SEN may appear immature to others. It is important that teachers endeavour to handle such situations with sensitivity and respect.

Some pupils will be working below even the end of key stage one expectations. In such cases, teachers may find the QCA P-levels for RE helpful for summative assessment purposes. These can be found within the Surrey Agreed Syllabus support materials.

In addition to these, there are some excellent approaches to RE for SEND pupils outlined in the Five Keys into RE guidance, presenting a simple structure (Connection, Knowledge, Senses, Symbols & Values) that helps bond SEND pupils’ distinctive life experiences and understandings to the study of worldviews, religion and human experience: 5 Keys Into RE - Anne Krisman - RE:ONLINE \(reonline.org.uk\)

EARLY YEARS FOUNDATION STAGE

Some principles for RE in the Early Years Foundation Stage (EYFS)

Starts from the child's experience & within the EYFS curriculum

A mix of planned & purposeful play

Adult-led & child-led activities

Exploration through six key questions:

Who am I and where do I belong?

Why do we have celebrations?

What makes a place special?

What can we learn from stories?

What makes something special?

What makes our world wonderful?

The Early Years Foundation Stage (EYFS)

The early years foundation stage describes the phase of a child’s education from the birth until the age of 5. The Early Years Foundation Stage Framework (EYFS) is the statutory framework for the early years foundation stage, which sets the standards for learning, development, and the care of children. RE is a legal requirement for all pupils of the statutory school age, which must include children in Reception. The statutory requirement to teach RE does not extend to nursery classes in maintained schools.

There is no requirement for RE to be delivered as discrete lessons in EYFS: how you choose to teach RE is a decision that should be made and justified at school level. There are seven areas of learning and development that shape the educational programmes in early years settings. All the areas of learning are interconnected. The table below shows the three prime areas and the four specific areas:

Prime areas	Specific areas
Communication and Language Physical Development Personal, Social and Emotional Development	Literacy Mathematics Understanding the World Expressive Arts and Design

RE in the seven areas of learning

RE has the potential to make an active contribution to all the areas of learning in early years settings, but it makes a particularly important contribution to those highlighted above in bold. The EYFS statutory framework \(September 2021\) strengthens the place of RE through its explicit reference to religious communities (DfE, 2021, p.14) in the Understanding the World area of learning. This specific area involves exploration of the child’s world, helping them to make sense of their physical environment and the communities that they are a part of. The RE curriculum provides opportunities for pupils to widen their personal experiences through meeting people from different religions, cultures and beliefs, visiting places of worship, exploring stories and festivals and enriching their vocabulary with subject-specific words.

Children at the expected level of development should know some similarities and differences between different religious and cultural communities in this country, drawing on their experiences and what has been read in class.

EYFS Framework Sept 2021, p14: ELG People, Culture and Communities

Characteristics of Effective Learning (CoEL)

The areas of learning and educational programmes that shape the curriculum in the early years foundation stage outlines what children should learn. The Characteristics of Effective Learning (CoEL) describes how children learn. Using the CoEL, it is possible to ascertain what kind of learner a child is and how practitioners can plan developmentally appropriate activities to extend their thinking. The CoEL should underpin all learning and development in the early years foundation stage, and indicates the ways that a child will engage with other people and their environment.

Children are powerful learners from birth. They can develop strong habits of mind and behaviours that will continue to support them to discover, think, create, solve problems, and self-regulate their learning. Children need consistent lived experiences of autonomy alongside support for their growing awareness and control of the processes of thinking and learning. Play, time, space, and freedom to follow their intentions, sustained shared thinking, and experiencing the satisfaction of meeting their own challenges and goals all contribute to development as curious, creative, resourceful, and resilient learners. (Birth to 5 Matters: non-statutory guidance for the Early Years Foundation Stage, 2021, p. 52).

RE affords children the opportunity to engage with stories, people, and artefacts, relating them to their own personal experiences. Continuous provision in the EYFS gives children the chance to return to activities that interest them for sustained periods, and allows children to begin to think more deeply and make links in their learning. RE is all about engaging and exploring. The aspects within the Characteristics of Effective Learning are a helpful place to start when we consider what kind of RE enquirers we want our EYFS children to be.

The table below shows the three aspects within the CoEL:

Playing and exploring – children investigate and experience things, and ‘have a go’

Active learning – children concentrate and keep on trying if they encounter difficulties, and enjoy achievements

Creating and thinking critically – children have and develop their own ideas, make links between ideas, and develop strategies for doing things

RE in the early years foundation stage, by which we mostly mean the Reception year, should begin with children’s own experiences and be shaped by the educational programmes planned by the school as part of their curriculum. This inevitably means that this will reflect a range of beliefs and ideas, reflecting both non-religious and religious worldviews, ensuring that all perspectives are valued and that the RE curriculum for EYFS is inclusive of all.

This curriculum should lead children to the subject content that focuses on religious ideas and concepts. The majority of children’s learning in the early years foundation stage is through a mixture of child-initiated and adult-led activity. Through a combination of careful planning, purposeful play, and appropriately pitched adult-led activities, children will develop a secure knowledge of some beliefs, ideas and concepts. After exploring RE within the seven areas of learning, this document will outline the 6 key questions that should guide the RE learning in the reception year. The key questions do not need to be taught in their entirety in one go. In fact, it may be useful to be able to dip in and out as you follow the children’s interests. However, there are aspects within some that are better taught in line with the academic year, e.g. Christmas at the end of Autumn 2 term and Easter at the end of the Spring 2 term.

The Early Years Foundation Stage (EYFS)

At the end of EYFS, there is a certain level of development that all children are expected to attain; these are set out in the Early Learning Goals (ELGs). The ELGs are used to make holistic, best-fit judgements about a child’s overall development and readiness for Year 1.

It is against the ELGs that pupils’ progress in EYFS must be measured.

There are no separate assessment statements for RE in the early years. The RE curriculum in this syllabus will provide plenty of opportunities for evidencing the ELGs at the end of the key stage: over the next few pages, we demonstrate what this might look like across the six key questions and how these in turn may help EYFS practitioners to gather evidence for the ELGs.

	Children at the expected level of development will...
ELG: Past and Present	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Talk about the lives of the people around them and their roles in society; - Know some similarities and differences between things in the past and now, drawing on their experiences and what has been read in class; - Understand the past through settings, characters and events encountered in books read in class and storytelling.
ELG: People, Culture and Communities	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Describe their immediate environment using knowledge from observation, discussion, stories, non-fiction texts and maps; - Know some similarities and differences between different religious and cultural communities in this country, drawing on their experiences and what has been read in class; - Explain some similarities and differences between life in this country and life in other countries, drawing on knowledge from stories, non-fiction texts and when appropriate – maps.
ELG: The Natural World	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Explore the natural world around them, making observations and drawing pictures of animals and plants; - Know some similarities and differences between the natural world around them and contrasting environments, drawing on their experiences and what has been read in class; - Understand some important processes and changes in the natural world around them, including the seasons and changing states of matter.

How does RE in EYFS contribute to the ELGs?

RE has the potential to make an active contribution to all the areas of learning in early years settings, but it makes a particularly important contribution to Understanding the World (DfE, 2021, p14-15)

This area of learning presents significant opportunities for evidencing the three ELGs in this area through the RE elements of learning in our six key questions. We choose here to exemplify how this might be achieved and expect that early years' practitioners will be able to find similar evidence in RE for the other areas of learning.

	Children at the expected level of development will...
ELG: Past and Present	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Talk about the lives of the people around them and their roles in society; - Know some similarities and differences between things in the past and now, drawing on their experiences and what has been read in class; - Understand the past through settings, characters and events encountered in books read in class and storytelling.

RE in the seven areas of learning

The recommendation in this Agreed Syllabus is that for pupils in the early years, learning in RE should always start from a child’s own experience and from within the EYFS curriculum. From this, the RE ‘key questions’ will lead children to the RE subject content, which focuses more on religious ideas and concepts. The EYFS curriculum will provide plenty of opportunities for RE-related learning. Much of pupils’ learning in RE within Reception will be through planned, purposeful play, with perhaps a mix of adult-led and child-led activities. Below, we show five of the seven areas of learning and highlight examples of RE-related experiences and opportunities. The text relating to each area of learning is taken from the Statutory Framework for the Early Years Foundation Stage (DfE, 2021; pp.8-10).

Communication and Language	The development of children’s spoken language underpins all seven areas of learning and development. Children’s back-and-forth interactions from an early age form the foundations for language and cognitive development. The number and quality of the conversations they have with adults and peers throughout the day in a language-rich environment is crucial. By commenting on what children are interested in or doing, and echoing back what they say with new vocabulary added, practitioners will build children’s language effectively. Reading frequently to children, and engaging them actively in stories, non-fiction, rhymes and poems, and then providing them with extensive opportunities to use and embed new words in a range of contexts, will give children the opportunity to thrive. Through conversation, story-telling and role play, where children share their ideas with support and modelling from their teacher, and sensitive questioning that invites them to elaborate, children become comfortable using a rich range of vocabulary and language structures.
Examples of RE-related experiences and opportunities	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - In response to memorable experiences, give children the opportunities to respond creatively, imaginatively and meaningfully - Religious events, such as Christmas and Easter, can act as a stimulus to help children to think of different special events that are associated with different celebrations - Children are regularly given the opportunity to listen to one another’s points of view - Stories, music, and artefacts give children the opportunity to learn about different important religious celebrations - Visiting places of worship and listening to visitors from different cultures and ethnic groups will expose children to new language. Children will then be able to use new words that are associated with this new learning, showing respect
Personal, Social and Emotional Development	Children’s personal, social and emotional development (PSED) is crucial for children to lead healthy and happy lives, and is fundamental to their cognitive development. Underpinning their personal development are the important attachments that shape their social world. Strong, warm and supportive relationships with adults enable children to learn how to understand their own feelings and those of others. Children should be supported to manage emotions, develop a positive sense of self, set themselves simple goals, have confidence in their own abilities, to persist and wait for what they want and direct attention as necessary. Through adult modelling and guidance, they will learn how to look after their bodies, including healthy eating, and manage personal needs independently. Through supported interaction with other children, they learn how to make good friendships, co-operate and resolve conflicts peaceably. These attributes will provide a secure platform from which children can achieve at school and in later life.
Examples of RE-related experiences and opportunities	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Children have regular opportunities to use stories from different cultures and traditions as a stimulus to reflect on their own feelings and experiences, exploring them in different ways - Through the use of role-play, children can explore the ways that people show concern and love for others and talk about why this is important - Discussions can help children to think about issues of right and wrong (justice) and how humans can help each other - By thinking about children in the class being individuals, children are able to explore what makes everyone unique, special, and, most importantly, valued

Literacy	It is crucial for children to develop a life-long love of reading. Reading consists of two dimensions: language comprehension and word reading. Language comprehension (necessary for both reading and writing) starts from birth. It only develops when adults talk with children about the world around them and the books (stories and non-fiction) they read with them, and enjoy rhymes, poems and songs together. Skilled word reading, taught later, involves both the speedy working out of the pronunciation of unfamiliar printed words (decoding) and the speedy recognition of familiar printed words. Writing involves transcription (spelling and handwriting) and composition (articulating ideas and structuring them in speech, before writing).
Examples of RE-related experiences and opportunities	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Stories can be used as stimuli, providing children with the opportunities to reflect on what different characters do and say and decide what children would have done in similar situations. - Activities and play can provide children with the opportunities to explore a story’s meaning
Understanding the World	Understanding the world involves guiding children to make sense of their physical world and their community. The frequency and range of children’s personal experiences increases their knowledge and sense of the world around them – from visiting parks, libraries and museums to meeting important members of society such as police officers, nurses and firefighters. In addition, listening to a broad selection of stories, non-fiction, rhymes and poems will foster their understanding of our culturally, socially, technologically and ecologically diverse world. As well as building important knowledge, this extends their familiarity with words that support understanding across domains. Enriching and widening children’s vocabulary will support later reading comprehension.
Examples of RE-related experiences and opportunities	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Through everyday experiences, children have the opportunity to ask and answer questions about diversity, religion and culture - Visiting places of worship, or listening to visitors or members of the school community from different religions, beliefs and ethnic groups - The opportunity to handle real artefacts can allow children to be more curious, respectful and interested
Expressive Arts and Design	The development of children’s artistic and cultural awareness supports their imagination and creativity. It is important that children have regular opportunities to engage with the arts, enabling them to explore and play with a wide range of media and materials. The quality and variety of what children see, hear and participate in is crucial for developing their understanding, self-expression, vocabulary and ability to communicate through the arts. The frequency, repetition and depth of their experiences are fundamental to their progress in interpreting and appreciating what they hear, respond to and observe.
Examples of RE-related experiences and opportunities	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Religious artefacts can act as a stimulus to allow children to think deeply about and express meanings associated with the artefacts - Children are provided with regular opportunities to share their own experiences and feelings, and can be supported with reflecting on them - Art, music, dance, stories, imaginative play, and role-play are all activities that can be used by children to represent their own ideas, thoughts, and feelings - Allow children to respond to things that they see, hear, smell, touch, and taste in their own way

EYFS: 6 key questions that support children’s learning through the EYFS

Understanding the RE Curriculum for EYFS

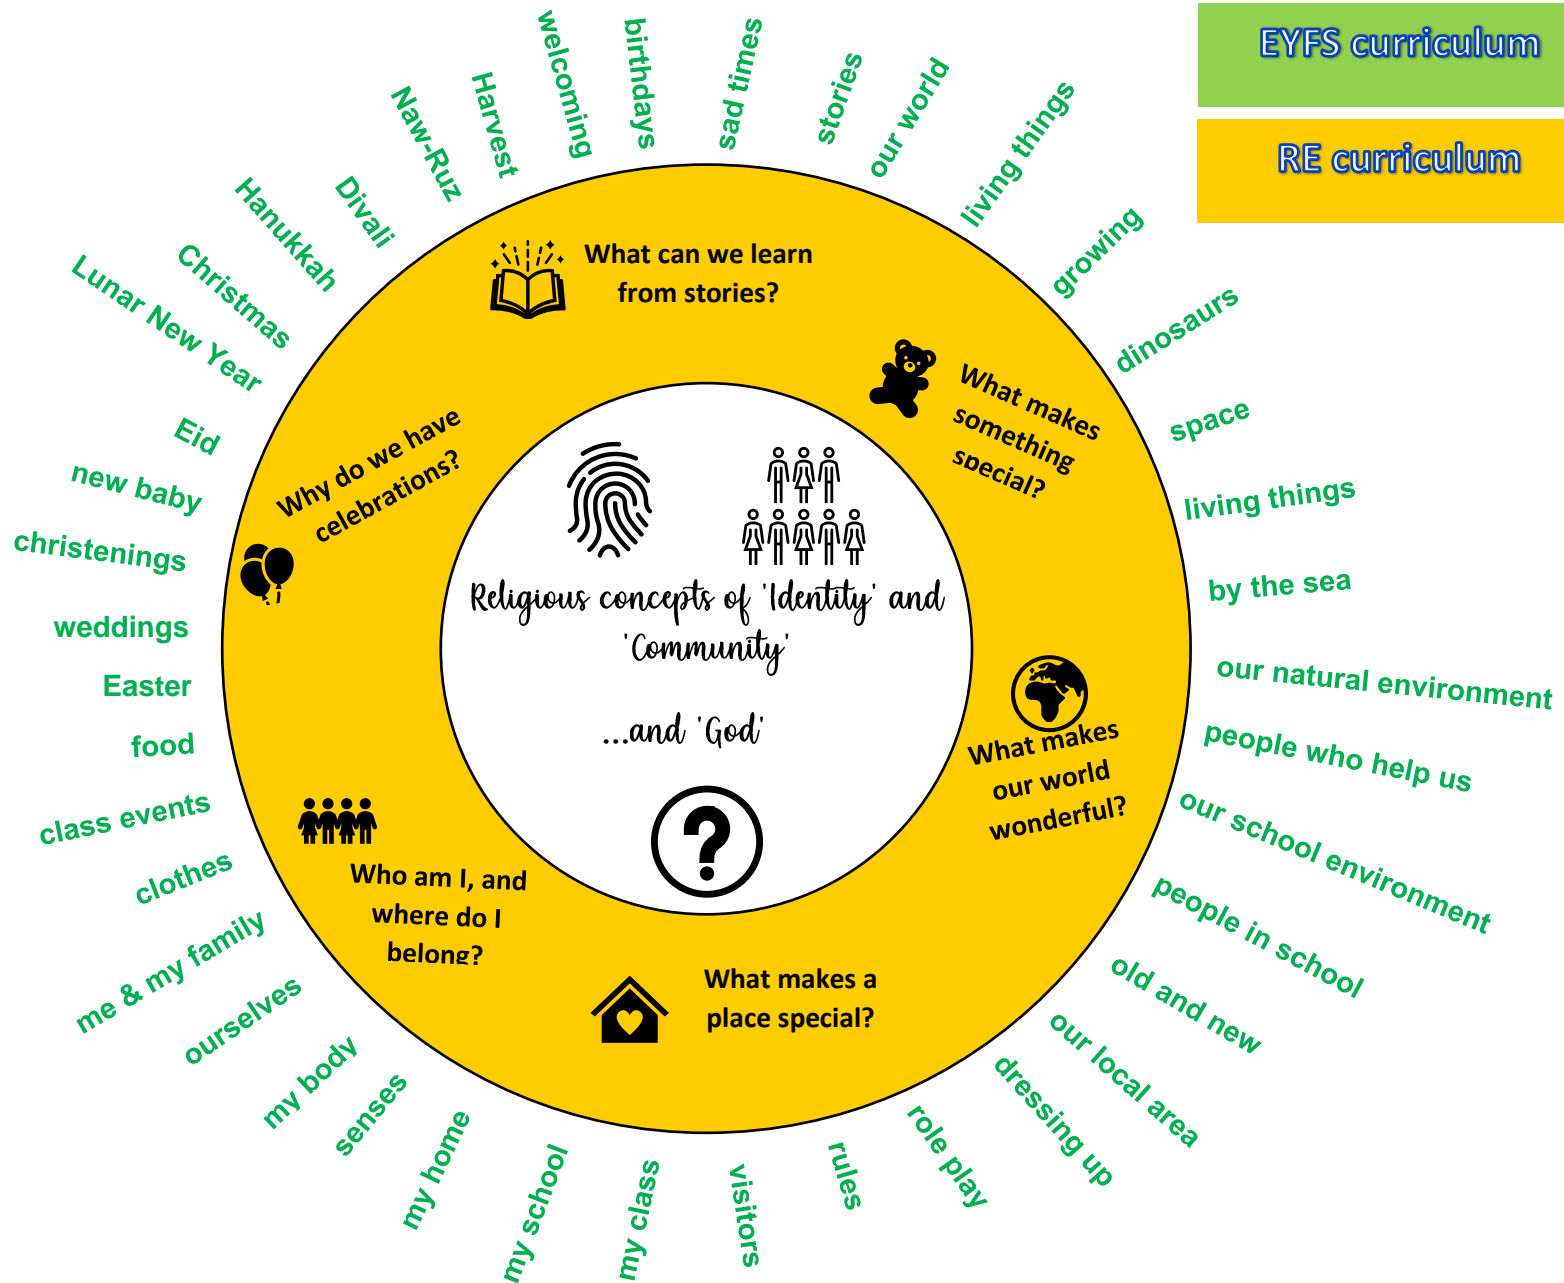

The RE curriculum for the EYFS always starts from where the children are, often taking a child’s-eye view and drawing upon their personal experiences. The curriculum allows children to explore the world around them from this starting point. Each school may organise their EYFS curriculum differently, perhaps adopting a topic-approach, or more of a child-initiated learning approach.

The themes in green around this diagram are common to many EYFS settings (and are not limited to those listed here).

The 6 key questions within the yellow doughnut give pupils the foundations for understanding the ‘Golden Threads’ (worldview concepts) of ‘Identity’, ‘Community’ and ‘God’, which are built upon in the KS1 RE curriculum.

These three Golden Threads tie into the 6 key questions that create the RE curriculum in the EYFS. Whilst the key questions could be taught as ‘units’, we recommend that you access them through your continuous provision, dipped in and out of as the year progresses and children’s interests and topics change.

The RE Curriculum for EYFS: 3 'Golden Threads'

This curriculum has been restructured from the previous Surrey Agreed Syllabus. There are 3 'Golden Threads' that enable links to be made across and within different religions and beliefs: ideas about 'God', 'Community' and 'Identity', explored through the substantive content, and encouraging pupils to view this content through the disciplinary (subject) lenses of theology, philosophy, and sociology. It is important to recognise here that the EYFS syllabus is likely to be structured very differently from learning in other key stages, in the way that the learning is approached through continuous provision, although schools may also choose to teach RE as a discrete subject.

The RE curriculum for EYFS is presented as six topics, with each exploring one key question. These key questions can be unpicked throughout the EYFS year, or taught as 'discrete' learning: this is a school-led decision. Through exploring the six key questions, children are able to explore the three golden threads, starting from the child's prior understanding and experiences and then widening to include other worldview points of views from this. They will broadly cover the following areas, helping children to understand:

Philosophical ideas about 'Identity'

Existential questions

In RE, we think about the mystery of what it means to be human, and 'me'

- We are all special and unique and have our own identity
- There are people who are special to us, e.g., family, friends and teachers
- Personal celebrations such as birthdays, weddings and baptisms and how they shape how we see ourselves
- 'Welcoming' celebrations, e.g., starting schools and new life
- Celebrating is a way of 'belonging'
- Belonging in a class and home family
- School-based celebrations

What are you curious about?
What questions do you have?
Do you think this is real?
What is right? What is wrong? What does 'good' mean?
What do you think we mean by 'true'?

Sociological ideas about 'Community'

Ways of living & impact

In RE, we think about what it means to be part of a community

- Festivals and celebrations that might be important for other children in the class/school, e.g., Eid-ul-Fitr, Diwali, Sukkot, Hanukkah, Naw-Ruz (Irani New Year), Guru Nanak's birthday etc. (as appropriate)
- Belonging in a school community (and, if part of a church school, the wider 'church family')
- It is important to respect things that are special
- Celebrating is often a way of expressing belonging
- Recognising where people belong, e.g. by special clothing or objects

How do different people celebrate?
How do you think people might use this artefact?
Are there any special celebrations or festivals that you have celebrated?
What could/do these symbols mean?
What happens here? Why is this place important?

Theological ideas about 'God'

Beliefs & Teaching

In RE, we think about what it means to believe certain things

- That 'God' is an important idea for some people
- There are special religious figures, e.g., Jesus as a special person for Christians, maybe through exploring Christmas and Easter, or Jesus' parables
- There are special places, special times, special objects and special books/stories – specifically the Bible as the special book for Christians, which contain the stories about Jesus
- The natural world is a place of wonder and is something that should be looked after; and the world is something that some people believe God created and others that it came about naturally

What does this religious word mean?
How do we pronounce it?
What is this story about? Why might people keep retelling it?
Who is God?
What does belief mean?
Why are special religious books important?

EYFS: 6 key questions that support children's learning through the EYFS

Whilst there are six units, EYFS teachers have the option to decide whether they would like to keep the subject content within the overall theme of the key question, or whether they would like to explore the RE content as it naturally arises out of children's interests and prior learning, e.g., in a topic about 'growing', subject content from 'What makes our world wonderful?', 'What makes something special?', and 'Who am I, and where do I belong?' might be suitable to draw upon for the RE learning within this topic. As is common within EYFS, there are naturally many places where concepts, ideas and questions overlap.

Who am I, and where do I belong? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Every person is special and unique • Some people believe that God made them this way • How new babies are welcomed • People belong together in different ways • People have different ways of showing they 'belong' together (religious and non-religious) • Special people in different religions (e.g., Jesus/Prophet Muhammad/Moses) 	Why do we have celebrations? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Celebrations are joyful times • Celebrations are often a time to say 'thank you' • Each person has a 'birth-day', and this is celebrated on the day he/she was born • Christians celebrate special times e.g., Harvest, Christmas, Easter • Other religions have different festivals • School-based celebrations
What makes a place special? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Some people have spaces that are special to them • There are special buildings where some people go to think and learn about God • Some people feel close to God anywhere or in their own special places 	What can we learn from stories? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • People can have favourite stories • Through stories people share ideas and values about how to live • Some books are special to religious groups, e.g., Bible (Christians), Torah (Jews), Qur'an (Muslims) • Some stories are about special people e.g., Jesus, Prophet Muhammad (pbuh), Moses
What makes something special? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Different things are special to people for different reasons • How to look after and respect things that are special to others • People can use objects to help them remember special times and places • Some objects are 'religious' objects and help people to think about God • Memories can be special 	What makes our world wonderful? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Our world is a place of wonder & we should look after it • People are naturally 'creative' • Some people believe our world was created by God and that this is an important story in their special books • Others believe that our amazing world came about naturally and is best explained by scientists, making observations and measurements (link to Science curriculum)

Who am I, and where do I belong?

What's the purpose of this unit?

To explore questions of identity, e.g., 'What makes you special and unique?' and 'How can we value others?', as well as thinking about the different places the children belong (school community, family, friendships etc.).

The children should also consider how new babies are welcomed into the world as a way of celebrating the uniqueness of a new life and investigate different ways in which people show they belong, including sharing stories about religious leaders.

This is a perfect unit to use when introducing the children to your school values.

What might this look like in the classroom?

 Engage	Help children to understand that they are part of a school community. Ask a new parent to bring their baby into the class to talk about how their baby was welcomed into the family. Did they have a naming ceremony? A party? A Christening? etc.
 Enquire & Explore	Children have opportunities to think about what makes them special and unique and can think of ways that other people are special and unique. How do we know that we are loved? Who loves us? Who do we love?
 Evaluate	Children will be able to think about the different places that they belong, e.g., family, or club etc. Share and record occasions when things have happened that have made children feel special, at home and at school
 Express	How can we show other people that they are welcome? If a new person is coming to the class, make a plan together with the children to make the child feel as welcome as possible

Why do we have celebrations?

What's the purpose of this unit?

To explore the idea of 'celebration' as an important concept, the starting point being the celebrations that are a part of the lives of pupils in your class.

This learning creates significant opportunities to help pupils to see the world through the eyes of others and to understand that celebrations can help us understand more about what different people believe.

It is also the intention of this unit to introduce pupils to the celebration of Christmas as an important Christian festival, and how, for Christians, the account of Jesus' birth is the focus of the celebration, as well as exploring the celebrations that are important within your class context.

What might this look like in the classroom?

 Engage	Look at and make cards that relate to specific festivals or celebrations, e.g., Christmas, birthdays etc. Have parents or visitors in to the school to talk about a celebration that is important to them
 Enquire & Explore	Cook and share food, or bring gifts to look at, that you might find at a certain celebration, e.g. pancakes for Shrove Tuesday, or Ma'amoul for Eid Decorate a classroom to fit in with a festival, e.g., a birthday party for children turning 5, or lanterns for Chinese New Year
 Evaluate	It might be appropriate for children to compare different festivals, e.g., light at Christmas and light at Diwali, or New Year celebrations across different religions and cultures (Rosh Hashanah, Chinese New Year, and Diwali etc.) Think about special days for your school – Poppy Day, whole-school events, patronal festivals etc.
 Express	Children could plan and host a party to celebrate a significant celebration Small world or role-play of different family celebrations

What makes a place special?

What's the purpose of this unit?

To know that places are special for different people and that some places hold special memories.

The children will begin to understand that some people go to special buildings to pray or to be close to God.

Children may also reflect on places that are special for them, or places that they associate with special memories.

What can we learn from stories?

What's the purpose of this unit?

To explore a wide range of stories and picture books, religious and secular. They will use their favourite stories as examples of what makes a story special to them and begin to think about the fact that some stories are special to some people because they are about God or religious leaders.

Children could also consider whether stories can teach people things, and what they can learn from stories.

This unit could include the Easter story, with an opportunity for children to reflect on what the story might mean for them and what it means for Christians.

At a glance...

What might this look like in the classroom?

 Engage	Have a 'bring your favourite book to school' day – this could tie in with World Book Day. Read some stories in the class and vote for your favourite. Share some of the adults' favourite books from their childhood.
 Enquire & Explore	Story sacks, story stones, and role-play costumes are great for re-telling stories. Have a look at some 'special books' for religious people, e.g. Bible, Qur'an and the Torah – what do you think about when you see them?
 Evaluate	Share stories from children's versions of religious holy books. What can we learn? Think about the Christmas/Easter story using a good-quality story book. Why is it a special story for Christians? Think about books that are special for your class and why.
 Express	Have a go at creating our own stories, perhaps using Helicopter Stories. I wonder what someone might learn/or think about if they heard our stories?

What makes something special?

What's the purpose of this unit?

To think about the different ways in which an object might be considered 'precious' or 'special', including religious artefacts, and begin to articulate why this is.

It is an important question to help children to realise that something that is precious to them might not be to someone else and vice versa.

At a glance...

What might this look like in the classroom?
 Engage	Have a circle time together, either in small groups or as a whole class, to allow the children to say something that is special to them, "I think... is special to me..."
 Enquire & Explore	After establishing things that are special to us, think about how we can look after these things Ask a parent from the class, or a member of the local community, to come in to show the children objects that are special to them because of their faith.
 Evaluate	As well as thinking about special things, you might like to explore special places. Often it is the special places that we visit that give us good memories. Children could think about places that make them feel happy, or safe.
 Express	Create an exhibition of special things that the children have and invite other people to the classroom, perhaps a different class or parents, to allow children to talk about their special things and explain why they are special.

What makes our world wonderful?

What's the purpose of this unit?

To engage children with their innate sense of wonder about the natural world, and their part in it as unique individuals. The children will have many opportunities to create things of their own during their time in EYFS, which is an important idea within this key question.

This key question also offers opportunities to explore beliefs about the world, thinking about their own and others' ideas whilst also encountering the Creation account (from the Bible, Torah and Qur'an)

This unit will also help children to think about the way their community can work together to look after our wonderful world, and think about ways in which the whole school community can make a difference.

At a glance...

What might this look like in the classroom?
 Engage	Seasonal changes are perfect opportunities to think about the world being a wonderful place. Plant some seeds and watch them grow over time. What do plants need to survive?
 Enquire & Explore	Think about what it feels like to have good things spoilt – like when we have made a model and we have to pack it away, or worse, it gets ruined by someone. Create a new world or habitat using small world resources. What does the new world need? Who is it for? How could they look after it?
 Evaluate	Think about things in and around the school that need looking after and consider whether we are currently looking after them well. If not, what should we do?
 Express	Take some photos from a walk/bug hunt/time spent outdoors and create a display of these things, alongside comments from the children. Retell stories of creation using role-play.

NATRE Spirited Arts 2021 WINNER St. Nicolas' Infant School
Healing: 'Return Together' (after lockdown)

KEY STAGE ONE

In KS1, there are....

10 Compulsory units

introducing / revisiting key concepts

2 thematic units from a selection to be planned for the 2nd half of the Summer term, drawing together 'golden threads' across learning

Select an appropriate range of beliefs, including non-religious perspectives and Christianity

That means.... 5 Compulsory units + 1 thematic unit for Y1, and 5 Compulsory units + 1 thematic unit for Y2

The balance of units across each key stage ensures that schools meet statutory requirements in terms of substantive content and allocate enough time to deliver high quality RE for all pupils. The thematic units are designed to draw together key ideas that are present in other units across the phase, consolidating prior knowledge & helping pupils to make links, whilst introducing new material from religions or beliefs represented in their school community or not previously studied. Each unit will contain some suggestions to help schools to plan and give a guide as to the appropriate balance of the content. These units also create opportunities for assessing pupils' progress. Across all key stages, we recommend that pupils' own 'lived experience' is appropriately included in RE discussions, which inevitably means that this will reflect a range of beliefs and ideas, encompassing both non-religious and religious worldviews. Teachers should ensure that all perspectives are valued and that the RE curriculum for KS1 is inclusive of all. This approach will be modelled through the non-statutory support materials.

Outlined in this section of the syllabus are some detailed overviews to indicate suggested prior and future learning, which should be used to help schools to plan their curriculum and make decisions about placing units so that they build pupils' schemata:

← In order to access the learning in this unit, pupils should have learnt about.... → Where will pupils' learning go from here?....

Each individual unit of work (pages 44-58) outlines statutory content that must be covered. This includes 'sticky knowledge' (the substantive content), six key questions to help shape the learning in the unit in multi-disciplinary ways, and guidance about expected outcomes. This may need to be adjusted as teachers plan, to account for pupils' differing abilities.

Each unit also comes with non-statutory support materials which provides a sequence of learning, ideas for lessons & links to some suggested resources. These are hyperlinked from each of the individual units in this section.

Building your long term plan for KS1 using the overview

Start by choosing one thematic unit for the 2nd half of the Summer term for each year group

Ensure that your choice has some links with the Christianity content for that year group

Choose Judaism and/or Islam units that also have some links with the chosen thematic unit

Using your long term plan, you should be able to teach your chosen sequence of units of work, enabling pupils to make links across their learning, develop and deepen their knowledge and explore different worldviews through the Golden Threads of God (theology), Community (sociology) and Identity (philosophy).

KS1	Compulsory units: 3 per year group	Concepts	Links with other learning in RE
Y1	CHRISTIANITY: Why do Christians call God 'creator'?	God Creation	← The idea of Community God as a caring/loving figure. Jesus being the Son of God Fiction / Non-fiction as categories of texts → Pupils will learn about the creation story from the Torah and the Qur'an in the KS1 Judaism & Islam units, and build on their understanding of God as creator in the Y2 unit 'What is God like for Christians?' There is also a thematic unit 'Why should we care for our world?' which will build on this understanding and also develop prayer as an expression of gratitude.
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> 'Create' / 'creation' / 'creator' Biblical creation story God as 'creator' of the world & in other parts of the Bible Celebration of Harvest
Y1	CHRISTIANITY: What is the 'Nativity' and why is it important to Christians?	Incarnation God Worship	← Christian belief in God as 'Father God' and creator. Harvest as a time when Christians have special Church services to thank God for His gifts, and that Christmas as the celebration of Jesus' birth. → Pupils will continue to build their concept of incarnation through 'Y1: What do Christians learn from stories of Jesus?' & 'Y2: Why is giving important to Christians?'. This same Y2 unit also builds understanding of the community of Christian believers, the Church. Pupils will also make links with other places of worship e.g. synagogue & mosque being a focus for families and community life, as well as the concept of prayer in the thematic unit 'Is prayer important to everyone?'
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> 'Nativity' as the birth of Jesus Other important people in the Nativity Why did angels announce Jesus' birth? Diversity of Nativity sets across the world Christmas as focus of worship of Jesus
Y1	CHRISTIANITY: What do Christians learn from stories of Jesus?	Incarnation Salvation	← The Nativity account Jesus's birth involving unusual events What Christians think God is like. The idea of friendship being something involving effort. → Pupils will continue to build on their understanding of incarnation (Jesus being born as a human being) across KS1 & KS2. There are also important threads of the way that Jesus taught others, through stories especially, that will be picked up in KS2 units building the Kingdom of God concept. There is also a KS1 thematic unit 'Why do people tell stories?' that will draw on the learning from this unit.
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Stories about Jesus, baby → man Jesus human 'like us' and divine, 'like God' Jesus' stories ('parables') & miracles Christians as 'followers' of Jesus End with Easter story and symbols
Y2	CHRISTIANITY: What is God like for Christians?	God Creation	← God creating the world and God as a caring and giving figure. That 'Christians' are followers of Jesus. That Christians worship God in church and how they live → Pupils will continue to build on the concept of 'God' for Christians through developing their understanding of Jesus as God's Son – and the 'image' of God, his Father. The concept of God as Trinity – Three and yet One – is a great Christian 'mystery', which will be explored further in UKS2.
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Build on idea of God as creator Images of God from the Bible: shepherd, parent, King Ideas in art / story / song

The thematic unit ‘Why should we care for our world?’ could also draw on pupils’ understanding of Allah as creator. Pupils will deepen their understanding of how worship & salah show submission to Allah in the LKS2 unit ‘How does ‘ibadah’ (worship) show what’s important to Muslims?’ →

KS1	Thematic units: choose 1 per year group	Links with other learning in RE
	The thematic units are designed to help secure deeper connections in pupils' learning across the year, through the development of the Golden Threads: the concepts of God, Community and Identity. Where units are placed by schools in their long term plan will impact on the connections that are possible, so it's essential to plan thematic choices carefully. Whilst units may draw on learning from your wider curriculum, you must ensure that the focus remains on RE, and include a balance of religious and non-religious perspectives, including Christianity. The Golden Threads are a key feature of the thematic units as they help to ensure that pupils' learning is multi-disciplinary, and contains an age-appropriate balance of Theological, Sociological and Philosophical questions and approaches. The thematic units contain a balance of material to consolidate learning with new learning that builds on this, and so create ideal opportunities to gather evidence of pupils' progress. Schools can also decide to include content that relates to their own setting e.g. if you have Buddhist / Humanist pupils in your school, then the thematic units you choose could include material that helps pupils to understand Buddhism / Humanism.

 Building on prior learning from Early Years Foundation Stage *(please see EYFS section for more information)

In the Early Years Foundation Stage, children will have had opportunities to find out and learn about the world they live in. These experiences are likely to have included:

- learning about themselves within the context of their school;
- learning about the worldviews, beliefs and cultures of others, including Christianity;
- encountering the celebration of different festivals;
- where possible, meeting different people from faith and belief communities;
- hearing stories that are special to different religious and non-religious people, that help children to relate to the things that different people believe.

During Key Stage 1, pupils will:

develop their knowledge and understanding of the worldviews, beliefs and ‘lived experience’ of some Christian, Jewish and Muslim people, and (especially as part of the thematic units) some non-religious people become more aware of other peoples’ worldviews and be encouraged to develop important subject-specific and cross-curricular skills

As well as the statutory content, each unit of work in the syllabus also contains elements to help teachers to deliver RE in a way that ensures a balance of multi-disciplinary approaches. This is achieved through the use of key questions to help shape the learning and indications of expected outcomes for the unit of work. These may need adjusting to suit the ages and abilities of pupils.

Through their learning experiences in KS1, pupils will develop their understanding of the Golden Threads of 'God' 'Community' & 'Identity' and be encouraged to:

- explore core concepts & beliefs for Christian, Jewish & Muslim people, and appreciate that some people call themselves 'non-religious';
- develop subject specific vocabulary;
- encounter how different people view the world in different ways;
- encounter and respond to ways in which people express their beliefs (e.g. stories, artefacts and other media, such as art and music – and what they might 'mean');
- begin to understand the importance and value of religion and belief for different people, especially other children, their families and the communities they belong to;
- ask relevant questions and develop a sense of wonder & curiosity about the world around them, using their imagination;
- ask questions and express their own views about what it means to be human: what's important to themselves and to others, valuing themselves, reflecting on their own feelings and experiences and developing a sense of belonging.

- talk simply about core beliefs and concepts and what they mean
- use appropriate subject-specific vocabulary when they talk
- identify similarities in features of religion and belief
- retell religious, spiritual and moral stories
- identify how stories / symbols / objects might show what people believe
- identify how belief is expressed in different ways for different people

- talk about different communities of people
- give examples of how people put their beliefs into practice, in the home, in places of worship or in living their lives
- give a reason why something may be of value to themselves and/or others, recognising different viewpoints

- respond sensitively and imaginatively to questions about being human and their own place in the world
- ask thoughtful questions about their own and others' ideas, feelings and experiences
- recognise that some questions about life are difficult to answer
- respond to questions about e.g. 'right'/'wrong', 'good'/'bad', 'real'/'true'
- give a simple reason for a view that they have

What’s the purpose of this unit? It is the intention of this unit to help children to understand that most Christians believe God created the world and that the Bible tells the overarching account of God’s creation and plan. Through their learning, they will explore how Christians aim to emulate God’s giving attitude as seen in creation throughout life and also at special times. They will also consider how important love is for Christians: the love of God for humanity, the love of Christians for God, and the love of Christians for others. Pupils could also be given the opportunity to find out about the Jewish festival of Sukkot and explore links between this story & being thankful for the Harvest.

What's the purpose of this unit? The purpose of this unit is to help children understand that for most Christians, Jesus was God's Son, who was born in a stable in Bethlehem, and grew up to teach people about God. To learn this, children will be reminded of who God is (the creator), and that He is a caring/loving figure. This unit will keep children's attention focused on Jesus as the most important person in the events and portrayal of the Nativity, and how this is a part of Christmas celebrations around the world.

What's the purpose of this unit? This unit intends to explore how Jesus lived, highlighting that many of his experiences were the same as ours (human), whilst many others were exceptional (indicative of his holiness). During this unit, pupils should consider the experiences they share, and do not share, with Jesus, and the example Jesus set for Christians through these. The concept of Jesus' dual nature (completely human – like us – and completely divine – like God, also known as the Hypostatic Union) is essential for learning in this unit, culminating in the juxtaposed experiences of Jesus' death (Human) and resurrection (God) over the Easter weekend.

What's the purpose of this unit? It is the intention of this unit to explore how most Christians see and experience God as a guide and guardian, much like a shepherd is to sheep. During this unit, pupils should consider how friends and followers of God (the Israelites, disciples, and modern-day Christians) speak about God. The concept of God's love and 'parent-like' attitude is essential in this unit. What's the purpose of this unit? It is the intention of this unit to explore the concept of giving: as an act of worship for most Christians, and a core idea behind the concept of 'incarnation' – God giving Jesus to the world – focusing on a key text for Christians in John 3:16. It also explores how the Christian community – the Church – aspires to give in many different ways, as God gave, and should include a visit to your local church to look for clues. This unit should ideally be taught in the second half of the Autumn term, as it culminates in considering why Christians give at Christmas.
Links across learning In order to access the learning in this unit, pupils should have learnt about... That many Christians go to church to worship (Y1 unit) some stories and words in the Bible that help Christians to live their lives as Jesus taught (e.g. parables Jesus told and stories about Jesus) the story of Jesus' birth and that Christians believe Jesus is God's Son	'Sticky knowledge' By the end of this unit, pupils should know: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • that giving is important within all communities as a way of helping others and building relationships • that most Christians believe that God's nature is to give, and that he gave Jesus as a gift to the world • that worship is a way of giving to God • that this giving takes many different forms, including prayer & volunteering • that when most Christians give, they are showing that they are a part of God's Kingdom • that the Church is both a building and the community that meet there • that when Christians give to others at Christmas, it is a reminder of how God gave Jesus, and also of the gifts of the wise men, who worshipped him
Where will pupils' learning go from here?.... Children's thinking about the concept of 'incarnation' will continue to be built on through key units in KS2. It is the intention of this unit to help children to begin to understand that Muslims believe in one God, who they call Allah, and that Allah's 99 beautiful names express who Allah is for Muslims. Through their learning, children will begin to understand how worship of Allah (ibadah) is central to how Muslim families live their lives and that the mosque is an important place for Muslims when they want to pray together.

What’s the purpose of this unit? It is the intention of this unit to help pupils to reflect on the stories about leaders that they have explored in the Christianity, Judaism and Islam units, and to think about the qualities that make a good leader. It is important that you draw on figures from the religions that you have covered. Pupils should explore what makes a good leader in their own lives and your school, and can draw on other stories about leaders that you may feel are appropriate e.g. from your PSHE or History units, or other key figures such as philosophers. It is helpful for children to be introduced to the idea that leaders do not have to be religious to be a good leader. This unit will also explore ideas about how & why communities follow their leaders and the characteristics of a good leader and create opportunities to consider the more philosophical question of whether pupils feel we need leaders. THIS UNIT MAY BE TAUGHT IN Y1 OR Y2

What's the purpose of this unit? It is the intention of this unit to explore how stories are important to people of different faiths and beliefs as a way of expressing meaning, ideas about the beginnings of the world, sharing morals and providing comfort in challenging times or answers to difficult questions. The process of the unit will also help to build your class community, as you explore different types of story together. Whilst there is an overlap with what you may be exploring in your English curriculum, it is important to ensure that the learning here has an RE focus. THIS UNIT MAY BE TAUGHT IN Y1 OR Y2

What's the purpose of this unit? It is the intention of this unit to build on prior learning through exploring and comparing how different religious communities pray, and to consider why other people choose not to pray. You might also find it useful to use this unit to help pupils understand prayer in the context of your school collective worship / assembly. It's really important to explore this question sensitively, as there will be children in your class who come from many different home backgrounds. This unit should present either option as perfectly acceptable, and acknowledge that your school context provides the perfect opportunity to consider how you might help any child or adult feel more included in collective worship / assembly because of the understanding they have gained in this unit.

What's the purpose of this unit? It is the intention of this unit to help children to reflect on the natural world, what makes it precious and why and how we should care for it. Whilst the creation account (found in the Bible, Torah and the Qur'an) might help answer this question for religious people, pupils should also be given opportunities to learn that non-religious people also show wonder at the natural world, concern about environmental issues (as the world is our shared home), and also have beliefs about how the world came to be.

What's the purpose of this unit? It is the intention of this unit to explore how important both giving and receiving are within different communities, and that this shared act builds strong communities. It's important that children have a chance to link what they've explored in their prior learning with this philosophical question – and recognise that it's maybe not possible to give a definite answer! We recommend that you draw on both religious and non-religious examples during the learning in this unit. This unit is recommended for Y2 to give pupils the maximum benefit of RE learning across 2 school years to draw on, as well as the maturity to consider this tricky question.

SACRE RE Competition WINNER Malik, Y3 Bushy Hill Junior School
'This is a 3-D net to show how all the faiths fit together as part of our world.'

LOWER KEY STAGE TWO

In LKS2, there are....

10 Compulsory units

introducing / revisiting key concepts

2 thematic units from a selection to be planned for the 2nd half of the Summer term, drawing together 'golden threads' across learning

Select an appropriate range of beliefs, including non-religious perspectives and Christianity

That means.... 5 Compulsory units + 1 thematic unit for Y3, and 5 Compulsory units + 1 thematic unit for Y4

The balance of units across each key stage ensures that schools meet statutory requirements in terms of substantive content and allocate enough time to deliver high quality RE for all pupils. The thematic units are designed to draw together key ideas that are present in other units across the phase, consolidating prior knowledge & helping pupils to make links, whilst introducing new material from religions or beliefs represented in their school community or not previously studied. Each unit will contain some suggestions to help schools to plan and give a guide as to the appropriate balance of the content. These units also create opportunities for assessing pupils' progress. Across all key stages, we recommend that pupils' own 'lived experience' is appropriately included in RE discussions, which inevitably means that this will reflect a range of beliefs and ideas, encompassing both non-religious and religious worldviews. Teachers should ensure that all perspectives are valued and that the RE curriculum for LKS2 is inclusive of all. This approach will be modelled through the non-statutory support materials.

Outlined in this section of the syllabus are some detailed overviews to indicate suggested prior and future learning, which should be used to help schools to plan their curriculum and make decisions about placing units so that they build pupils' schemata:

← In order to access the learning in this unit, pupils should have learnt about....

→ Where will pupils' learning go from here?....

Each individual unit of work (pages 66-80) outlines statutory content that must be covered. This includes 'sticky knowledge' (the substantive content), six key questions to help shape the learning in the unit in multi-disciplinary ways, and guidance about expected outcomes. This may need to be adjusted as teachers plan, to account for pupils' differing abilities.

Each unit also comes with non-statutory support materials which provides a sequence of learning, ideas for lessons & links to some suggested resources. These are hyperlinked from each of the individual units in this section.

Building your long term plan for LKS2 using the overview

 Start by choosing one thematic unit for the 2nd half of the Summer term for each year group

 Ensure that your choice has links with the compulsory content for that year group, covering Christianity, Judaism, Islam, Sikhi and Humanism.
In order to ensure a balance across religions and beliefs, there must be some Christianity content linked to each thematic unit.

 Using your long term plan, you should be able to teach your chosen sequence of units of work, enabling pupils to make links across their learning, develop and deepen their knowledge and explore different worldviews through the Golden Threads of God (theology), Community (sociology) and Identity (philosophy).

LKS2	Thematic units: choose 1 per year	Links with other learning in RE
	The thematic units are designed to help secure deeper connections in pupils' learning across the year, through the development of the Golden Threads: the concepts of God, Community and Identity. Where units are placed by schools in their long term plan will impact on the connections that are possible, so it's essential to plan thematic choices carefully. Whilst units may draw on learning from your wider curriculum, you must ensure that the focus remains on RE, and include a balance of religious and non-religious perspectives. The Golden Threads are a key feature of the thematic units as they help to ensure that pupils' learning is multi-disciplinary, and contains an age-appropriate balance of Theological, Sociological and Philosophical questions and approaches. The thematic units contain a balance of material to consolidate learning, with new learning that builds on this, and so create ideal opportunities to gather evidence of pupils' progress. Schools can also decide to include content that relates to their own setting e.g. if you have Buddhist / Humanist pupils in your school, then the thematic units you choose could include material that helps pupils to understand Buddhism / Humanism.
LKS2	Why do people make promises? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> How people demonstrate commitment through making promises e.g. in marriage, at birth, rites of passage etc. Draw on material across religions & beliefs studied 	 	This unit will explore how promises form a part of different rites of passage e.g. baby welcoming / marriage and should ideally build pupils' abilities to make comparisons across & within religions and beliefs.  Building on prior learning from KS1 (*please see KS1 section for more information)

In KS1, pupils will have explored religion and worldviews through encountering the practices, artefacts, stories and beliefs of some Christian, Jewish and Muslim people, as well as developing an understanding that other people might call themselves 'non-religious'. It is hoped that through the KS1 units of work, pupils will have gained these insights through a rich range of resources such as art & music, and by meeting people from different faith & belief communities through carefully planned visits, or by having visitors in to school. The LKS2 units of work build on these experiences. Please refer to the KS1 section of the syllabus for further information and curriculum overviews.

During Lower Key Stage 2, pupils will:

 extend their knowledge and understanding of the beliefs and lived experience of some Christian, Jewish and Muslim people and be introduced to the importance of equality to Sikhs, and the Golden Rule to Humanists, recognising the impact of religion and belief on people's worldviews, locally (including within their own school), nationally and globally. They will also make connections across their learning in the thematic units and deepen their understanding of concepts within and across religions / beliefs.

 be encouraged to become more self-reflective in the way that they understand their own personal worldview and the things that may have influenced it. They will also continue to develop important subject-specific and cross-curricular skills.

 As well as the statutory content, each unit of work in the syllabus also contains elements to help teachers to deliver RE in a way that ensures a balance of multi-disciplinary approaches. This is achieved through the use of key questions to help shape the learning and indications of expected outcomes for the unit of work. These may need adjusting to suit the ages and abilities of your pupils.

Through their learning experiences in LKS2, pupils will develop their understanding of the Golden Threads of 'God' 'Community' & 'Identity' and be encouraged to:

- build on their understanding of some core concepts & beliefs about God for Christian, Jewish and Muslim people, and explore those of Sikhi & non-religious people;
- explore a variety of sacred texts and other sources and consider their meanings and impact;
- extend their range and use of subject specific vocabulary;
- make connections between aspects of worldviews, religion and belief and consider how people express these in everyday life;
- recognise diversity in religions & beliefs, and consider the impact of this on people's lived experience;
- understand the importance of asking questions and encountering different viewpoints;
- reflect on their own 'personal knowledge' and that of others in the light of their learning;
- develop an understanding of what might influence and shape a person's worldview, attitude, or behaviour, including their own.

Therefore, in their RE learning, you might see evidence of the Golden Threads when pupils.....

- identify similarities and differences between theological concepts / religions / beliefs, giving examples from their learning
- describe and suggest meanings for symbols and other forms of expression for people of faith or belief, giving reasons for their ideas
- make links between concepts / beliefs, texts / stories and practices (believing, belonging and behaving)

- investigate and connect aspects of religions and beliefs, identifying some similarities and differences in people's lived experience
- identify the impact of beliefs and practices on people's lives – individually, or as a community e.g. in how people worship and/or how they live

- compare their own ideas, influences and/or feelings with those of others
- make links between what they and other people think about God / being human / what is important in life / how to behave
- give reasons for beliefs, attitudes and actions, especially in relation to their own developing worldview ('personal knowledge')
- ask significant questions about life or human experience, comparing their ideas with others' and suggesting answers from their learning

What's the purpose of this unit? It is the intention of this unit to give pupils an understanding of how Christian art expresses belief and enables worship. Many Christians throughout history and across the world have used art to express their love for, and understanding of, God and children will have opportunities to explore and evaluate examples and reflect on what they communicate. They will be introduced to a wide variety of artistic forms including Christian architecture, icons, sculpture and music, developing an understanding of the possible meanings they communicate. There is also opportunity within this unit for children to use art to express their own ideas about God.

What’s the purpose of this unit? To explore some of the miracles of Jesus through the eyes of Peter and others who were there, with a focus on how people were changed physically & emotionally by encountering Jesus. Pupils will consider how these encounters demonstrate, for most Christians, that Jesus is God’s Son – and that He is still changing lives today. What's the purpose of this unit? It is the intention of this unit to give pupils a big framework across the whole of the Bible, to help them to understand how the Bible is both a collection of many different stories & types of writing, and one 'big story' of God and his relationship with people. Most Christians believe that this 'story' spans all time, from Creation to the Second Coming, at the centre of which is the birth, life, death & resurrection of Jesus. Through two contrasting retellings of this 'big story', pupils will begin to explore some core theological concepts, using this Big Bible Story to help them to see where familiar stories fit – and how they are linked. There is also opportunity within this unit to explore how Christians use their creativity to show how they treasure the Bible and show their beliefs about God, which will help children develop their own ideas.

What's the purpose of this unit? It is the intention of this unit to explore the sacrament of communion, which is a pivotal practice for Christian communities all over the world, and focuses on remembering Jesus' sacrifice. There are strong links with Jewish Passover celebrations, which Jesus was taking part in when he instigated this practice, commanding his followers to 'do this and remember me', so it is recommended that pupils study the LKS2 Judaism unit 'What are special times for Jews?' at some point before this unit.

What's the purpose of this unit? It is the intention of this unit to focus on prayer being important for most Muslims as it's a time when time is taken out of the day to show a submission to Allah (Arabic term for God). Muslim beliefs about prayer or worship (ibadah) show a dedication to obeying Allah. Muslims can pray anywhere, but it's good for them to pray together in a mosque. This togetherness with the community or 'ummah' shows their unity with their brothers and sisters in Islam. A visit to a mosque is strongly recommended for this unit, as it really helps to bring a faith to life, but the same outcomes could be reached by using a 'virtual' visit or by looking at some photos.

What's the purpose of this unit? It is the intention of this unit to explore the key beliefs of Sikhi, in particular, the importance of equality. Pupils should gain a general insight into what many Sikhs value and how they express this through their community life, their commitment to Pray, Work and Give, and the wearing of all or some of the 5Ks.
Links across learning	'Sticky knowledge' By the end of this unit, pupils should know:
In order to access the learning in this unit, pupils should have learnt about.... Pupils may have encountered the Sikhi religion in some additional material in KS1 thematic units. Some learning about giving through service (sewa) in the langar is recommended content for a thematic unit recommended for Y2: Is giving better than receiving	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • that Guru Nanak Ji* was the founder of Sikhi & that he is not worshipped as a god • that 'guru' means 'teacher' and that there are ten gurus of Sikhi That most Sikhs believe: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • that God is one (il Onkar) and can be found in all living things (Naam) • that equality is very important in Sikhi society • that Sikhs have special symbols which reflect Sikh identity, including the Five Ks • that the Sikh holy book is called 'Guru Granth Sahib Ji'* and that Sikhs consider this to be a living guru (the last of the Gurus), not just a book • that the Gurdwara is the home to the Guru Granth Sahib Ji • that many Sikhs worship at home and at the Gurdwara • that the Nishan Sahib (the orange flag with the Khanda symbol, flown outside every Gurdwara) is considered to be sacred • that the three main duties of a Sikh are to 'Pray, Work and Give'
Where will pupils' learning go from here?.... The LKS2 thematic units all have elements of Sikhism that teachers can select from. Sikhi content is a recommended choice for 'What is the Golden Rule and why do so many people live by it?' and 'Why do people make promises?' Sikhi perspectives may also be included in some UKS2 thematic units, especially 'What does it mean to live a good life?' Pupils may deepen their understanding of Sikhism through 4 units in KS3 that can be selected as part of schools' curriculum

What's the purpose of this unit? It is the intention of this unit to explore and understand how welcoming a new life is important for many people, but focusing specifically on Humanism as an example of non-religious worldviews. Pupils will also draw on their own experiences of milestones and events in their own lives.

Where will pupils' learning go from here? Developing comparative skills when looking at non-religious and religious views in thematic units. Christians welcoming people to the community of faith (& Kingdom of God) through baptism Comparisons when looking at a wider range other religions in UKS2; Sikhism, Hinduism, Buddhism. Pupils will develop their knowledge and understanding of Humanism further in most of the thematic units, but especially 'What is the Golden Rule and why do so many people follow it?' Pupils will also develop cross curricular learning links when pupils look at Science - Evolution and Inheritance in UKS2 and beginning to consider how humans came to be and the part that Science and Evidence might play in that. Key questions to shape the learning
1) Where does welcoming a baby fit in to the life journey of a religious or a non-religious person? 2) & 3) How do non-religious groups celebrate new life? What does a Humanist ceremony show us about what's important to non-religious people about life and how to live? 4) How do you think new life should be welcomed into the world? 5) How does belonging or being welcomed into a group help us develop an identity? 6) Why do you think it is important to celebrate new life?

What's the purpose of this unit? It is the intention of this unit to build on prior learning through exploring and comparing how different religious and non-religious communities demonstrate commitment through making promises e.g. in marriage, at birth, rites of passage etc. and should ideally build pupils' abilities to make comparisons across and within regions and beliefs. It's really important to explore this question sensitively, as there will be children in your class who come from many different home backgrounds.

What’s the purpose of this unit? It is the intention of this unit to consider the relationship between words and actions across religions and beliefs that pupils have studied so far, and to give them the opportunity to debate the philosophical question about whether words or actions are more important. It will also include a session looking at creeds as important words within religious communities, and recapping on the importance of the Golden Rule for Humanists, linking these words to the actions of the communities. There will also be opportunity for pupils to express their own version of a creed, based on their developing personal knowledge, and maybe influenced by their learning.

NATRE Spirited Arts 2022 WINNER Year 6 (11-12) 'Nature is the Art of God'
Made from recycled materials

UPPER KEY STAGE TWO

In UKS2, there are....

10 Compulsory units

introducing / revisiting key concepts

2 thematic units from a selection to be planned for the 2nd half of the Summer term, drawing together 'golden threads' across learning

Select an appropriate range of beliefs, including non-religious perspectives and Christianity

That means.... 5 Compulsory units + 1 thematic unit for Y5, and 5 Compulsory units + 1 thematic unit for Y6

The balance of units across each key stage ensures that schools meet statutory requirements in terms of substantive content and allocate enough time to deliver high quality RE for all pupils. The thematic units are designed to draw together key ideas that are present in other units across the phase, consolidating prior knowledge & helping pupils to make links, whilst introducing new material from religions or beliefs represented in their school community or not previously studied. Each unit will contain some suggestions to help schools to plan and give a guide as to the appropriate balance of the content. These units also create opportunities for assessing pupils' progress. Across all key stages, we recommend that pupils' own 'lived experience' is appropriately included in RE discussions, which inevitably means that this will reflect a range of beliefs and ideas, encompassing both non-religious and religious worldviews. Teachers should ensure that all perspectives are valued and that the RE curriculum for UKS2 is inclusive of all. This approach will be modelled through the non-statutory support materials.

Outlined in this section of the syllabus are some detailed overviews to indicate suggested prior and future learning, which should be used to help schools to plan their curriculum and make decisions about placing units so that they build pupils' schemata:

← In order to access the learning in this unit, pupils should have learnt about... → Where will pupils' learning go from here?...

Each individual unit of work (pages 88-103) outlines statutory content that must be covered. This includes 'sticky knowledge' (the substantive content), six key questions to help shape the learning in the unit in multi-disciplinary ways, and guidance about expected outcomes. This may need to be adjusted as teachers plan, to account for pupils' differing abilities.

Each unit also comes with non-statutory support materials which provides a sequence of learning, ideas for lessons & links to some suggested resources. These are hyperlinked from each of the individual units in this section.

Building your long term plan for UKS2 using the overview

Start by choosing one thematic unit for the 2nd half of the Summer term for each year group.

Ensure that your choice has links with the compulsory content for that year group, covering Christianity, Judaism, Islam, Buddhism and/or Hindu (Sanatan) Dharma. In order to ensure a balance across religions and beliefs, there must be some Christianity content linked to each thematic unit.

Using your long term plan, you should be able to teach your chosen sequence of units of work, enabling pupils to make links across their learning, develop and deepen their knowledge and explore different worldviews through the Golden Threads of God (theology), Community (sociology) and Identity (philosophy).

UKS2	Compulsory units: 3 per year	Concepts	Links with other learning in RE
Y5	CHRISTIANITY: What do Christians believe about creation?	Creation Free will	←	People believe different things about how the world began The creation narrative is shared by Christians, Muslims and Jews The Christian 'big story' (meta-narrative) begins with creation As Christian views about creation differ, this is an important unit to help pupils to understand diversity within a faith community and where those beliefs come from, which is an essential skill for pupils to build on through all units in UKS2 and beyond, to KS3. This unit is especially relevant to the UKS2 thematic unit 'How did it all begin?' and the Y6 unit 'Who am I and where do I belong?'
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Link with Science curriculum: creation / evolution theories Humanity has choices – 'free will' All of creation is affected by 'the fall' One day there will be a new creation 		→
Y5	CHRISTIANITY: Why is the idea of 'rescue' so important to Christians?	Creation Free will / Fall Covenant People Incarnation Gospel Salvation Kingdom	←	The Bible tells the 'big story' of salvation, with the story of Jesus' birth, death & resurrection at the centre. Previous salvation units will all have referenced the concept of 'rescue' Gospel means 'good news': Jesus' life, death and resurrection are all a part of this good news This is another pivotal unit as it creates the big schema across all the theological concepts into which many other units are linked, This is an important unit to help pupils understand Christian views about life now – and life after death – so it will link well into the thematic units 'What does it mean to live a good life?' or 'Is life a journey?'
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> God's 'Big Story' – the rescue plan Stories of salvation across OT & NT 'Salvation' in the Easter story Creative expressions of salvation 		→
Y5	CHRISTIANITY: How did the Church begin, and where is it now?	Kingdom Gospel	←	What the Kingdom of God is and how it is ruled Jesus' teachings on how his followers should live That 'Church / church' is both the community of believers and the building that Christians worship in That the Church is a worldwide community of believers This unit will be built upon in Y6 'For Christians, what difference does it make to belong to God's Kingdom?' and also in the unit exploring God as Trinity, Three and yet One. It is especially important to revisit the global dimensions of Christianity in these units.
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Birth of the Church at Pentecost God calls the Church to do God's work in the world and be 'good news' Baptism, worship & service are signs of membership 		→
Y6	CHRISTIANITY: How is God Three – and yet One?	God Trinity Incarnation	←	That Christians believe Jesus is God's Son, God incarnate (in human form) and the Saviour / Messiah Christians experience God as Father, King, Creator, shepherd: these aspects relate to his character The Holy Spirit is God active in the lives of Christians This unit links very well with the Y6 Kingdom unit, exploring what it means for Christians to allow God's Holy Spirit to work in and through them as they live in God's Kingdom. The concept of God being Three – and One – is an interesting comparison when pupils learn about the Trimurti in the Hindu Dharma unit, but also as a contrast to Jewish and Muslim beliefs about God being one and without equal
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Holy Spirit is God at work in the world Holy Spirit in relationship with Father & Son Trinity in baptism of Jesus, creation & Christians' experience How does this idea compare with other religions' beliefs? 		→
Y6	CHRISTIANITY: What do Christians believe about the Messiah – and why is it good news?	Incarnation Salvation Covenant People	←	That God made covenants (promises) with his people throughout the Old Testament That Jesus' birth, life, death and resurrection are at the very centre of the Christian 'big story' (meta-narrative) That incarnation and salvation are core concepts within Christianity This unit will be built on in 'Y6: For Christians, what difference does it make to belong to God's Kingdom?' as it explores the impact of beliefs about Jesus as Messiah on how Christians live their lives. It is also revisited in many of the thematic units for UKS2
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Jesus as fulfilment of OT prophecies in his birth, life and death Link with story of Simeon in the temple What Jesus said about himself Links to 'I AM' statements in John's Gospel 		→
Y6	CHRISTIANITY: For Christians, what difference does it make to belong to God's Kingdom?	Incarnation Kingdom	←	God's Kingdom was inaugurated by Jesus and he taught his followers what should be important to citizens who belong there, through parables & other teachings e.g. the Sermon on the Mount Serving others and treating them fairly is important in God's Kingdom The Holy Spirit is God active in the lives of Christians, at work across the world This is also an important unit to help pupils understand Christian views about life now – and life after death – so it will link well into the thematic unit 'What does it mean to live a good life?' or 'Is life a journey?' as both these units explore different religious and non-religious perspectives on life and the afterlife
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Command to 'act justly, love mercy, walk humbly' What difference does the Holy Spirit make? Lord's Prayer – on earth/ in heaven Christians' beliefs about life after death 		→

UKS2	Compulsory units: 2 per year	Concepts	Links with other learning in RE
UKS2	JUDAISM: What does it mean to be part of a synagogue community?	Shema Torah mitzvot Tzedek (Justice)	←	That most communities have rules to help life to be fair for everyone That teachings in sacred texts help believers know how to live as part of a community That places of worship are a focus for many different activities Symbolism as a way of expressing meaning
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Centrality of Torah to worship (e.g. shema) Impact of commitment to justice / living according to mitzvot in the Torah / remembering (Yom Kippur) Synagogue: place of learning, worship & gathering 		→	The thematic units 'What does it mean to live a 'good' life?' and 'Should we forgive and forget?' both build on the understanding developed in this unit of the role of teachings / mitzvot in creating a community that is fair
UKS2	ISLAM: What helps Muslims to live a good life?	Shahadah Salah Sawm Zakah Hajj hadith	←	'Allah' is an Arabic term for God Muslims believe in the oneness of God. Many Muslims may pray in a mosque as a place of worship. Worship shows what is important to Muslims. The Qur'an is Allah's final revelation to humanity & was revealed to the Prophet Muhammad (pbuh) in Arabic. Following the guidance from the Qur'an is of high importance. Reading the Qur'an is an act of worship as well as a source of guidance: it should be read in the original Arabic.
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Five pillars as duties for living a good life Fasting and celebrating contribute to a good life Hadith & sunnah as guidance to follow 		→	This learning in this unit will be revisited as part of several UKS2 thematic units, especially 'What does it mean to live a good life?'
UKS2	HINDU (SANATANA) DHARMA: What helps Hindus (Santanis) to worship?	'Sanatana Dharma' Brahman (tri)murti Puja Arti avatar	←	How believers worship in other religions God as Trinity in Christianity & other ideas about what 'God' is like Pupils may already have explored some key Hindu ideas in 'Why should Hindus live a good life?'
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> 'Sanatana Dharma' as a way of life for Hindus (Sanatanis) Brahman present in all things & represented in many forms esp. Trimurti Key deities and avatars of Sanatana Dharma (Hinduism) and their place in Hindu worship 		→	The learning in this unit will be revisited as part of the thematic units 'What does it mean to live a good life?' and 'Is life a journey?' Pupils will also explore Buddhism as a way of life in 'What is the 'Buddhist way of life?'
UKS2	HINDU (SANATANA) DHARMA: Why should Hindus live a good life?	'Sanatana Dharma' Samsara Karma Moksha	←	Living a good life means different things to different people That religions often express beliefs about life after death That there may be rewards in this life and/or the next for living a 'good' life Pupils may already have explored some key Hindu ideas in 'What helps Hindus to worship?'
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Cycle of samsara & impact of karma Moksha as release from cycle of samsara Importance of 4 dharmas (duties) & artha (honest living) in achieving a good life 		→	The ideas explored in this unit will be revisited as part of the thematic units 'What does it mean to live a good life?' and 'Is life a journey?' Pupils will also explore ideas about the cycle of samsara in the Buddhism unit.
Y6	BUDDHISM: What is the 'Buddhist way of life'?	'Buddha' Samsara Karma Nirvana	←	It is recommended that pupils explore a Hindu (Sanatana) Dharma unit before this unit to consider connections and similarities. NB If this unit is not taught in Y6, key elements from it should be included in the UKS2 thematic units. That religions have teachings to help believers know how to live That worship is usually focused on a deity or higher power
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Story of Buddha's enlightenment Buddhists follow dhamma (teachings) to avoid bad karma & escape cycle of samsara Eightfold Path as the way to enlightenment esp. meditation 		→	This unit is especially relevant to the thematic units 'What does it mean to live a good life?' 'Should we forgive and forget?' and 'Is life a journey?'

UKS2	Thematic units: choose 1per year	Links with other learning in RE
	The thematic units are designed to help secure deeper connections in pupils' learning across the year, through the development of the Golden Threads: the concepts of God, Community and Identity. Where units are placed by schools in their long term plan will impact on the connections that are possible, so it's essential to plan thematic choices carefully. Whilst units may draw on learning from your wider curriculum, you must ensure that the focus remains on RE, and include a balance of religious and non-religious perspectives. The Golden Threads are a key feature of the thematic units as they help to ensure that pupils' learning is multi-disciplinary, and contains an age-appropriate balance of Theological, Sociological and Philosophical questions and approaches. The thematic units contain a balance of material to consolidate learning, with new learning that builds on this, and so create ideal opportunities to gather evidence of pupils' progress. Schools can also decide to include content that relates to their own setting e.g. if you have Buddhist / Humanist pupils in your school, then the thematic units you choose could include material that helps pupils to understand Buddhism / Humanism. In UKS2, you must ensure that Buddhism is included in the thematic units if it was not selected as a compulsory unit of work for Y6.
UKS2	How did all begin? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • What are the different beliefs about what happened? • Are there common threads across religions? • Can you believe in both God and science? • Is it important to know how the world began? 	 	This unit will investigate the ways in which people from religious and non-religious perspectives try to answer the question of how the world began – and evaluate whether pupils think it's possible to know for sure. This unit could draw on learning from: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Y5 CHRISTIANITY: What do Christians believe about creation? • Y5 Science curriculum • UKS2 HINDU (SANATANA) DHARMA: What helps Hindus to worship?
UKS2	Is life a journey? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Milestones – personal / others • How do we overcome hurdles on a journey? • How do people decide which way to go? • Is a journey better shared? • How is a pilgrimage different to a journey? • Plan a personal pilgrimage 	 	This unit will investigate how the journey of life is marked by milestones and choices and that pupils' beliefs, actions, and important people in their lives will influence the direction that this journey will take. It could also consider the concept of pilgrimage as a special kind of journey. During this unit pupils will explore their own life journey, in comparison to that of others, reflect on difficulties that may arise and where to look for support. They will consider the role of belief in choices that are made, including beliefs about life after death. This unit could draw on learning from: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Y5 CHRISTIANITY: Why is the idea of rescue so important to Christians? • Y6 CHRISTIANITY: For Christians, what difference does it make to belong to God's Kingdom? • Y6 CHRISTIANITY: What do Christians believe about the Messiah – and why is it good news? • UKS2 ISLAM: What helps Muslims to live a good life? • UKS2 HINDU (SANATANA) DHARMA: Why should Hindus (Sanatanis) live a good life? • BUDDHISM Y6: What is the 'Buddhist way of life'?
UKS2	What does it mean to live a good life? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • How do different people answer this question? • Does collaborating make life better? • What might the consequences of not living a good life be? • Impact of good life on world, global / local community & self-identity 	 	This unit explores how different communities might answer this question and also helps pupils to consider views about any relationships between this life and what might lie beyond it from the point of view of religious and non-religious people. This unit could draw on learning from: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Y5: How did the Church begin and where is it now? • Y6: For Christians, what difference does it make to belong to God's Kingdom? • JUDAISM: What does it mean to be part of a synagogue community? • ISLAM: What helps Muslims to live a good life? • HINDU (SANATANA) DHARMA: Why should Hindus (Sanatanis) live a good life? • BUDDHISM Y6: What is the 'Buddhist way of life'?

UKS2	What can be done to reduce racism? Can RE help? (NATRE materials)	 	This unit is based on materials written by NATRE exploring the place of good learning in RE in helping to challenge racism and prejudice and promote justice and equality. The project on which these resources are based recognises that racism is dangerous and unjust, and seeks to give teachers resources for prejudice reduction that are also good RE. Pupils will also be encouraged to express their own visions for justice and equality. This unit could draw on learning, resources and approaches across the whole key stage.
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • What do we mean by ‘racism’? • What can we learn from two statues in Bristol? • How can the Silver & Golden Rules challenge racism? • Can good RE promote justice & equality for all?
Y6	Who am I and where do I belong?	 	This unit comes full circle to a question that we asked in EYFS, and gives pupils in Y6 the opportunity to reflect on how the communities they have studied in RE might answer this question. It also gives pupils opportunity to consider their own personal knowledge, and the beliefs that they hold, which might help them to make the move into their next school. This unit could draw on learning across the whole Primary phase and also reflect the values that have been a part of pupils’ time in your school.
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • How do communities gain a sense of personal identity through the things they believe? • Apostles’ Creed (Christianity), Shema (Judaism) & Shahadah (Islam) as statements of belief • What are the things that I believe – and where have my ideas come from? • How might these ideas help me as I move into Y7?

 Building on prior learning from Lower Key Stage 2 please see LKS2 section for more information*

In LKS2, pupils should have extended their knowledge and understanding of the beliefs and lived experience of some Christian, Jewish and Muslim people and been introduced to the importance of equality to Sikhs, and the Golden Rule to Humanists, recognising the impact of religion and belief on people’s worldviews, locally (including within their own school), nationally and globally. They will also have made connections across their learning in thematic units, deepened their understanding of concepts within and across religions / beliefs & begun to explore their own personal worldview and the things that may have influenced it. Please refer to the LKS2 section of the syllabus for further information and curriculum overviews.

During Upper Key Stage 2, pupils will:

further develop their understanding of the beliefs and lived experience of some Christian, Jewish, Muslim & non-religious people, and be introduced to Hindu (Sanatana) Dharma and Buddhism. As learning develops across this phase, pupils will increasingly become aware of the factors that might account for diversity within and across communities, including opportunities to consider how some sacred texts can be interpreted in different ways e.g. creation stories.

continue to explore their own personal worldview and begin to articulate some of the factors that may have influenced it, also applying their thinking to help them to understand the worldviews of others.

As well as the statutory content, each unit of work in the syllabus also contains elements to help teachers to deliver RE in a way that ensures a balance of multi-disciplinary approaches. This is achieved through the use of key questions to help shape the learning and indications of expected outcomes for the unit of work. These may need adjusting to suit the ages and abilities of pupils.

In UKS2, pupils will extend their understanding of the Golden Threads of 'God' 'Community' & 'Identity' and express their ideas / findings in different ways, through being given opportunities to:

- deepen their understanding of some core concepts & beliefs about God for some Christian, Jewish, Muslim & non-religious people and explore those of some Hindu (Sanatana) Dharma & Buddhist people;
- explore a wider range of sacred texts and other sources and consider their meanings and impact for different people;
- consider how different people might interpret some core texts in different ways;
- describe connections between aspects of religion and belief and consider how people express these in everyday life;
- explore diversity within and between religions & beliefs, and evaluate the impact on people's lived experience;
- consider the importance of communities in shaping people's worldviews;
- identify relevant information in answer to 'big' questions about being human, or living life, selecting examples and giving reasons for their choices;
- recognise the challenges involved in living life according to a set of principles and reflect on what influences these;
- explore how the search for meaning and 'truth' might be a part of human existence.

- explore, gather, select, and organise ideas about religion, belief or worldviews, drawing on key texts / sources and concepts where appropriate
- express their understanding of concepts in theological terms
- suggest some ways in which different people might interpret key texts / sources
- suggest meanings for a range of forms of expression, using accurate vocabulary

- comment on connections between questions / beliefs / values / practices / ways of life, explaining their importance to different communities
- investigate and describe similarities and differences in lived experience within and between religions / beliefs
- describe the impact of beliefs and practices for different people (e.g. on individuals, groups / communities and cultures, locally, nationally and globally)

- explain how sources of inspiration and influence make a difference to themselves and others, recognising that others might think differently
- suggest what might happen as a result of their own and others' thinking, attitudes or actions, drawing on examples from their learning
- develop insights of their own in exploring questions raised by the study of religions and beliefs, relating to their own personal worldview
- reflect on possible connections between worldviews and the human search for meaning in life

What's the purpose of this unit? It is the intention of this unit to help pupils to understand what many Christians believe about creation: that the world and all of life are created by God. For many Christians, this has implications for how they live: their relationship with God as their creator; their identity as those entrusted with the care of the earth and all living things; their understanding of science; their attitude to suffering and their hope for the future.
Links across learning In order to access the learning in this unit, pupils should have learnt about.... <ul style="list-style-type: none"> The Easter and Christmas narratives Pupils will have been introduced to the idea that people believe different things about how the world began through units in KS1 The concept of creation, both for themselves through their own creativity, and in the Big Bible Story (Y3 unit) They may have studied the LKS2 Thematic unit 'How do people use creative ways to express their beliefs?' 	'Sticky knowledge' By the end of this unit, pupils should know that: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> the creation narrative is shared by Jews, Christians and Muslims most Christians believe that: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> God created the world and all living things and has put humanity in charge of its care humans are given free will human choices have led to the fall of all creation which is the cause of suffering God will one day make 'all things new' and end all suffering the 'big Bible story' begins with creation and its themes are woven throughout Christian views can differ both within and across denominations some Christians believe that creation took place over seven days but others have different beliefs
Where will pupils' learning go from here?.... The Y5 CHRISTIANITY unit 'Why is the idea of rescue so important to Christians?' should be taught after this unit CHRISTIANITY Y6: How is God three – and yet one? will link to ideas of God the Father as creator UKS2 THEMATIC 'How did it all begin?' will look at ideas about origins from religious and non-religious perspectives

What's the purpose of this unit? It is the intention of this unit to build on pupils' knowledge of the Christian 'metanarrative' ('big story') of God and his relationship with people, which most Christians believe spans all time, from Creation to the Second Coming. During this unit, pupils will explore narratives connected with some key events across the whole of God's 'big story', searching for clues relating to salvation as his ongoing rescue plan for humankind. It is important that you give the Easter narrative a significant focus in the unit, making & building on links with previous learning. There is also opportunity within this unit to explore how some Christians show their beliefs about salvation, including through the creative arts, which will help children develop their own ideas and articulate what has influenced their choices.
Links across learning In order to access the learning in this unit, pupils should have learnt about.... <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • An idea of the Bible's big story, which should have been a part of pupils' prior learning in Y3, which spans the Old and New Testament • Children will also be familiar with theological concepts: • That Jesus is God 'in human form' (incarnate) & is called 'Saviour' by Christians • That Christians are a part of God's new Kingdom • There is also opportunity to build on pupils' understanding of how people use creative ways to express their beliefs if they used that thematic unit in LKS2. 	'Sticky knowledge' By the end of this unit, pupils should know: that most Christians believe that: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • humans were made for relationship with God • God is the great rescuer, who also came to earth in the person of Jesus, the Saviour • Jesus' life, death and resurrection enable a new relationship with God for all, and are at the centre of his rescue plan • through his death, Jesus rescued people from sin (atonement) • in his resurrection, Jesus rescued people from death • that this story of salvation has an impact on Christians' lives
Where will pupils' learning go from here?... This is a pivotal UKS2 unit as it deepens understanding of the Christian metanarrative across all the theological concepts, forming a basic understanding of Christian theology onto which KS3 units of work will be built. What’s the purpose of this unit? It is the intention of this unit to explore the Christian concept of the Trinity and to give pupils opportunity to investigate how some Christians express their ideas and beliefs, in words and in art. Although the concept of the Trinity is unique to Christianity, some more able pupils may be able to make connections / comparisons between this idea and other religions’ understanding of God e.g. the Trimurti in Hinduism.

What's the purpose of this unit? It is the intention of this unit to explore the connections, as most Christians see them, between prophecies in the Old Testament about the Messiah, and events from the life of Jesus. These ideas will also be explored using the story of Simeon from Luke chapter 2 and what Jesus said about himself in John's Gospel, much of which resonates with images from Old Testament prophecies. It is again recommended that you invite some members of your local Church community to talk to children about the meaning and significance for them of prophecies about Jesus. What’s the purpose of this unit? It is the intention of this unit to help pupils to understand that most Christians believe they are called to live in a new and distinctive way, enabled by the Holy Spirit. In living this way, they are seeking to work with God in the establishment of the kingdom to which they now belong. Pursuing justice, seeking reconciliation and serving others are all biblical commandments, which serve to shape this distinctive life and lead many Christians to undertake action in the world.

Unit title: What helps Hindus (Sanatanis*) to worship? Concepts: SANATANA DHARMA / BRAHMAN / (TRI)MURTI / PUJA / AVATAR Key Stage: UKS2 Year group:

What's the purpose of this unit? It is the intention of this unit to provide a broad understanding of how most Hindus (Sanatanis*) worship the supreme divine reality (Brahman) who is represented in different forms, and what helps them to do this. Pupils will use images and stories to draw meaning to support this understanding. More able pupils could also be given opportunities to consider similarities and differences between Hindu and Christian understandings of God and the Holy Trinity. Learning in this unit would be enhanced through a Sanatani / Hindu visitor from the local community, talking about their lived experience or if possible organise a workshop or a visit to a Mandir. *NB The vocabulary 'Sanatana Dharma' and 'Sanatani(s)' used in this unit reflect the words that the Hindu community would use when talking about their religion. What's the purpose of this unit? It is the intention of this unit to introduce pupils to the principal beliefs and practices of Buddhism. This is a key unit to prepare pupils for KS3, where they will further develop their understanding of Buddhism as a non-theistic religion (with no god). For this reason, it is strongly recommended that this unit is taught in Year 6, by which time pupils will have gained more of an overview of the nature of 'religion' through their study in the primary phase.
Links across learning In order to access the learning in this unit, pupils should have learnt about.... No prior learning about Buddhism Pupils may have encountered some elements in some thematic units There are also some elements of similarity between Buddhists' beliefs and those of Sikhs & Hindus (Sanatanis)	'Sticky knowledge' By the end of this unit, pupils should know: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • about the story of how Prince Siddhartha Gautama became Buddha • that 'Buddha' means 'awakened' or 'enlightened one' • that there is no supreme deity in Buddhism • that most Buddhists follow the teachings of the Buddha to gain enlightenment (Nirvana) which is achieved by meditating • that there are Four Noble Truths in Buddhism: these are the causes of suffering, and were set out in the Buddha's first sermon • that most Buddhists follow the Eightfold Path, which is the Middle Way (the 4th of the Four Noble Truths) • the Eightfold Path is the means by which dukkha (suffering) can be ended • that meditation helps the mind to develop 'Right Concentration' and that there are artefacts that help many Buddhists to meditate • that worship and meditation are different
Where will pupils' learning go from here?.... KS3 units of work: How do Buddhists understand existence?; Was the Buddha a person or a principle?; Can we be selfless in today's world?; Is Buddhist liberation possible?	Expected outcomes for this phase: i.e. what will pupils do to show this knowledge? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ① gather, select & organise ideas about the Buddha and his teachings ① consider whether worship and meditation are different things and why this might be ① express their understanding of Buddhism using theological vocabulary ① express clear views about how following the Eightfold Path might create challenges for a Buddhist ① consider how the four Noble Truths or the Eightfold Path might affect a Buddhist's way of life ① connect the key beliefs and teachings of Buddhism with features of a religion e.g. artefacts, symbols, rituals and what these mean to the Sangha (Buddhist community). ① apply ideas and reflections about issues raised e.g. suffering, enlightenment, meditation to their own, others' and Buddhists' lives ① articulate what it might mean for a Buddhist to live a 'good life', reflecting where their ideas/values come from, and consider how this view might be similar to or different from their own personal worldview (personal knowledge)

What's the purpose of this unit? To help pupils understand that the journey of life is marked by milestones and choices and that their beliefs, actions, and important people in their lives will influence the direction that this journey will take. During this unit they will explore their own life journey, in comparison to that of others, and reflect on difficulties that may arise and where to look for support. They will consider the role of belief in choices that are made, including beliefs about life after death. There is also an opportunity within this unit to reflect on how they would like to live based on their beliefs and the themes discussed during the unit. If pupils have not yet studied Buddhist ideas about life's journey & how to live, these should be included in this unit.

What’s the purpose of this unit? It is the intention of this unit to help pupils to consider how different groups of people might answer this question, drawing on knowledge across different religions and beliefs and encounters with the lived experience of these different communities to help answer the question. Children should explore the common threads across worldviews, such as the impact of living a good life on karma for dharmic traditions, or the place of key texts in helping religious people know how to live. Children should also begin to appreciate that for many non-religious people, a ‘good life’ is based on the desire to make the most of the one life that they believe they have to make themselves and others happy. It is also a unit where pupils should be encouraged to think about their own ideas of what a ‘good life’ is, and where these ideas might come from (personal knowledge). What's the purpose of this unit? It is the intention of this unit to give pupils an opportunity to reflect on themselves, their own sense of identity and where those ideas have come from (personal knowledge), whilst also thinking more philosophically about questions relating to human existence and the search for meaning. It comes full circle from the EYFS key question of the same title. It could also form a useful part of pupils' preparation for the transition into Y7, which you might want to use as part of a celebration of all that pupils have achieved during their time in your school. There is likely to be some overlap with the PSHE / RSE curriculum, but it's really important that the question of identity remains an RE focus and considers beliefs. Because of the parental right of withdrawal from sex education, care should be taken not to inadvertently include elements of sex education in this unit. Do ensure you utilise your school's pastoral systems for any necessary support. If pupils have not studied Buddhism yet, then we recommend that you use resources from the Y6 Buddhism unit 'What is the 'Buddhist way of life?' for session 4.

SACRE RE Competition HIGHLY COMMENDED Year 7
Florence, The Ashcombe School

KEY STAGE THREE

KS3: Building on prior learning from KS2

Across the Primary phase, pupils will have been introduced to a range of religions and beliefs, and been given opportunities to build on and deepen their understanding through a selection of thematic units, placed in the 2nd half of the Summer term. These thematic units have been designed to draw together some key ideas that are present in other units across the phase, consolidating prior knowledge, helping pupils to make links & build schemata, whilst introducing new material from religions or beliefs represented in their school community or not previously studied. Across their learning, pupils will also have explored their own 'lived experience', which will reflect a diversity of beliefs and ideas, encompassing both non-religious and religious worldviews, developing their understanding of themselves (personal knowledge).

In the Primary phase, pupils have viewed the statutory content through three multidisciplinary 'lenses', theological, sociological & philosophical, expressed through three 'Golden Threads' within the curriculum, exploring:

- understandings of 'God' (or no God) for different people (theological)
- how beliefs impact on communities and ways of life, and are often diverse and complex (sociological)
- how people's beliefs are often linked with human identity, existential questions & the search for meaning (philosophical) such as 'Who am I?' and 'Why are we here?'

During Key Stage 3, pupils will:

develop their knowledge and understanding of worldviews, beliefs and 'lived experience' across a range of religions and beliefs, reflecting the fact that 'the religious traditions in Great Britain are in the main Christian, while taking account of the teaching and practices of the other principal religions and beliefs represented in Great Britain'.

become more aware of their own and other peoples' worldviews, developing their understanding of their own 'personal knowledge' and being able to appreciate the value of views that others hold, even when they don't share those views themselves. Through the curriculum, pupils should also explore the different factors that influence someone's worldview and be able to apply this thinking to their own worldview.

continue to develop important subject-specific and cross-curricular skills, including a wider and more comprehensive use of technical vocabulary.

The statutory content outlined in the units of work also contains elements to help teachers to teach RE that reflects multi-disciplinary approaches. This is reflected through the use of colour-coded key questions, using theological, sociological & philosophical language, but opportunities to 'view' content through these lenses should also be planned into the curriculum by RE teachers. Some substantive content in this overview is more aligned to one discipline than the others, so a balance might also be achieved through the choice of units.

What's in the curriculum for KS3?

Every school using this syllabus must shape its own curriculum intent and implementation in line with its school's curriculum aims and within the context of their own setting. It is from this intent that the pathway through the statutory content can be mapped. Through the content in the overview specified below, it is possible for any secondary school to select units and content, and construct a curriculum for their pupils that is academically challenging, builds progress over time and develops strong schemata. There are examples of how some schools have built their RE curriculum from this overview in the support materials for KS3. There are also some exemplar schemes of work, which may be added to over time. You can find the link to these on the Agreed Syllabus webpages.

In line with expectations from Ofsted, schools should be able to narrate their RE curriculum for KS3, considering 'Why here? Why now?' in order to articulate the reasons for their choices of units or selection of content. It is also a requirement by Ofsted that schools publish their RE curriculum by year group on their schools' website. Care should be taken to demonstrate that pupils are adequately prepared for KS4, and that the pathway that the school has chosen achieves the following aims:

- that it meets the statutory requirements as set out in legislation (see next page*);
- content is planned in such a way that pupils demonstrate progress across the phase: as Ofsted phrases it, 'the curriculum is the progression model' i.e. pupils should learn cumulatively enough, well-sequenced content to make progress. The units in the overview are numbered to aid this process;
- the curriculum balances breadth with depth, allowing pupils the opportunity to revisit and deepen their understanding, and meet end of phase expectations (see p.110);
- learning is planned in a way that creates opportunities for pupils to use multi-disciplinary approaches (theological, sociological & philosophical) to the substantive content;
- approaches to learning reflect the reality that someone's worldview relates to the way that they view the world, which may be complex, drawing on and explaining diversity within and across religions and beliefs;
- pupils must explore the concepts of 'religion' and 'worldview' and develop their own knowledge of self (personal knowledge), including an awareness of how this then influences the way that they engage with the content in the classroom. This might be achieved through the use of the questions below, either as a unit in its own right, or within the study of other units selected from the KS3 menu:

- How and why do we study religion and worldviews?
- What is a worldview and does everyone have one?
- Are 'worldview' and 'religion' two different concepts?
- Why do we learn about different worldviews?
- Are the beliefs and teachings of organised religion necessarily the same as the religious views of the believers within the religion? How can we explain the reasons for that?
- Can learning more about religions and worldviews add value to our lives? If so, how?
- What is 'personal knowledge'? Is this only relevant in RE?
- Does learning about worldviews influence our own personal knowledge? Or is personal knowledge fixed?

It is a statutory requirement that any school's RE curriculum must reflect the fact that 'the religious traditions in Great Britain are in the main Christian, while taking account of the teaching and practices of the other principal religions and beliefs represented in Great Britain'. Schools must be able to demonstrate how they are meeting this requirement if asked.

There is an expectation at KS3, as at other key stages, that RE is given equal status in terms of profile and curriculum time as other foundation subjects: the statutory content of this syllabus is based on the assumption that it is given 5% of curriculum time. The expectation that schools meet this recommendation is highlighted in recent Ofsted reports, where schools have been downgraded because they failed to provide enough statutory RE, especially in KS4 for pupils who are not being entered for a GCSE examination course.

Key Stage 3: some further thoughts....

- The KS3 menu (pages 110-117) contains 6 Christianity units, then 4 each of Buddhism, Hindu (Sanatana) Dharma (more commonly called Hinduism), Humanism, Islam, Judaism and Sikhi units, as well as 6 Worldviews thematic units and 2 Sociology of Religion units. Schools should select from these to construct their curriculum for KS3.

 NB The vocabulary 'Sanatana Dharma' and 'Sanatani' used in this overview reflect the words that the Hindu community would use when talking about their religion. In classroom terms, try to use these newer terms sometimes as well as the more familiar words (Hinduism and Hindus) so that pupils understand both. Hindu Dharma is also an accepted alternative to 'Hinduism'.*

- The numbers allocated to the units indicate the order in which they have been designed to be taught, but schools do not have to teach all units within the same distinct religion or belief. Each unit should last half a term, meaning 6 units across a year.
- When selecting content, please remember that it must meet statutory requirements (see box above).
- Departments might decide to study specific religion or belief units in the Autumn & Spring terms, then select relevant worldviews thematic units for the Summer term, drawing on and deepening knowledge gained from the Autumn and Spring terms to answer the questions posed in the thematic units. This mirrors the model that pupils are likely to have been familiar with during the Primary phase.
- This content has also been restructured into a fully thematic approach for KS3, revisiting 6 themes across years 7, 8 and 9, which can be viewed on p.118. These themes are: Nature of Religion; Existence of God; Matters of Life and Death; Good and Evil; Equality and Diversity; Science and Worldviews. Schools may also adopt this approach to their curriculum design.
- There are also support materials which include exemplar curriculum models and some schemes of work: these are materials that have been generously shared by schools for the benefit of other schools.

End of phase expectations for KS3: theological, sociological & philosophical

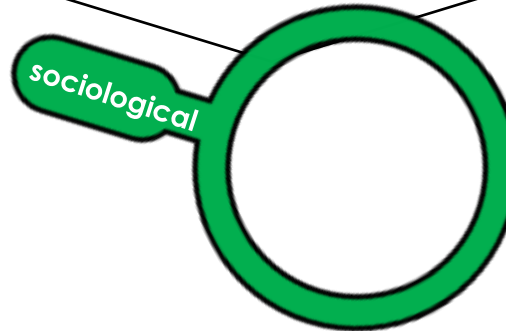

During KS3, students should be given learning experiences that encourage them to...

- extend the use of subject specific vocabulary, using it accurately to express understanding;
- identify and use relevant information in order to make links between different religions and beliefs, exploring similarities and differences and backing up information and ideas with clear reasons;
- use information from sacred texts and other sources to exemplify belief and practice, appreciating the place of hermeneutics in developing understanding;
- recognise the challenges of belonging to a religious or belief tradition in today's world;
- consider how beliefs, teachings and practices affect the life of adherents;
- assess the role of religion and belief systems locally, nationally and globally;
- express personal viewpoints and worldview/beliefs clearly whilst listening to and respecting those of others in response to the materials studied;
- consider the importance of inter-faith dialogue or the search for meaning in life as part of the development of personal knowledge and philosophical insight;
- make judgements about what is right and wrong relating to moral and ethical teaching and drawing on religious and non-religious belief systems;
- consider their own beliefs and values and those of others in the light of their learning in religious education, understanding that beliefs shape a person's worldview.

Therefore, you might see evidence of the multidisciplinary lenses when students.....

- interpret worldviews, religions, beliefs and practices from different perspectives
- explain the reasons for, and effects of diversity within and between worldviews, religions, beliefs and cultures
- use accurate religious and philosophical terminology and concepts to explain worldviews, religions, beliefs and value systems

- express their own insights into the challenges of committing to a worldview (religious and non-religious) in the world today
- explain the impact of diversity on the lived reality for different groups of people
- explain some of the challenges offered by religious and non-religious beliefs in the world today, including their place in public life and the shaping of society

- explain the challenges posed to themselves and others by religious, spiritual and philosophical questions
- connect the human search for meaning or answers to big questions to content studied
- present clearly their own views of matters to do with moral and ethical concern, comparing and contrasting others' views and insights appropriately
- present clearly their own views on matters of religious and non-religious belief and practice, whilst respectfully taking into account others' viewpoints
- explain how a person's beliefs shape their worldview, including their own (personal knowledge)

This is one way in which the statutory content might be shaped. Over KS3 there are 6 themes that are the foundation of what all pupils will study. The aim is to deliver different theological, sociological and philosophical ideas through themes rather than through individual religions/beliefs. This gives additional flexibility to schools where their curriculum needs to be adapted to suit the context and specialism. The themes are:

1. Nature of Religion	2. Existence of God	3. Matters of Life and Death	4. Good and Evil	5. Equality and Diversity	6. Science and Worldviews
------------------------------	----------------------------	-------------------------------------	-------------------------	----------------------------------	----------------------------------

Schools are expected to teach each theme each year across KS3, creating a spiral curriculum that builds on depth of knowledge. Units numbered '1' could be taught in Y7, '2' in Y8 and '3' in Y9. Christianity needs to be taught as the majority within each unit, as per statutory requirements, but comparisons should be made to other religions to show diversity in beliefs and teachings. If needed, refer back to the main overview for more detail about specific elements of substantive content.

Examples of how these themes might be used within such a curriculum are shown below.

CURRICULUM OVERVIEW: KEY STAGE FOUR

Across Key Stage 4 all students should follow a GCSE full course in Religious Studies from an approved examination board. Specifications for the full course are available from the examination boards: teachers should select which board to follow in line with their school's examination policy. The options chosen are at the school's discretion but it should have an appropriate focus on Christianity and at least one other world faith in each school year. Thematic studies are a key part of all GCSE specifications. It is expected that the majority of students will be entered for the externally verified examination towards the end of their time in Y11.

Schools are reminded that in KS4, RE is still a statutory requirement for all pupils, including any pupils not following a GCSE course: these will be expected to follow an equivalent curriculum created by the school, building on pupils' knowledge and skills from KS3. Ofsted requires all schools to publish their RE curriculum by year group on their website, and continues to be critical of schools where there is no RE provision for pupils in KS4.

Aims: the KS4 curriculum should give students opportunities to:

- acquire knowledge and develop understanding of the beliefs, values and traditions of Christianity and at least two other principal religious traditions represented in Great Britain, one in Y10 and one in Y11;
- consider the influence of the beliefs, values and traditions associated with the religions studied alongside non-religious responses as appropriate;
- develop knowledge and understanding of religious beliefs, teachings and sources of wisdom and authority, including through their reading of key religious texts, other text and scriptures of the religions studied;
- address non-religious perspectives and responses to matters of religious belief and practice;
- consider religious and other responses to philosophical and moral issues;
- develop their ability to construct well-argued, well-informed, balanced and structured written and oral arguments which demonstrate the depth and breadth of their understanding of the subject;
- identify, investigate and respond to fundamental questions of life raised by religion and human experience, including questions about the meaning and purpose of life;
- reflect on their own values and beliefs, especially in relation to understanding personal knowledge;
- address issues of similarity and difference within and across the religions and beliefs studied;
- use skills relevant to the study of religion such as:
 - recalling, selecting and organising knowledge and understanding of the religions and as applicable non-religious life stances studied
 - describing, analysing and explaining the relevance of the religions studied for believers and others
 - using relevant knowledge, evidence and argument to outline personal and others' responses to the religions studied

N.B. Any changes made by the Department for Education and Ofqual to GCSE criteria will automatically be incorporated into this Agreed Syllabus.

RE for POST-16

Introduction

These guidelines outline the legal requirement for Religious Education (RE) at 16+ and provides some broad guidelines of how RE can support both the academic attainment and personal development beyond Key Stage 4.

The Legal Requirement

Sixth Form in schools:

- All registered pupils, including those in the sixth form, in LA maintained and Voluntary Controlled schools (or their equivalents) shall receive RE in accordance with a locally Agreed Syllabus. Academies do not have to follow the LA agreed syllabus for their locality, but must deliver their RE in accordance with the legal requirements, reflecting the fact that 'the religious traditions in Great Britain are in the main Christian, whilst taking account of the teachings and practices of the other principal religions represented in Great Britain' (Education Act 1996, section 375 (3)).
- All registered pupils, including those in the sixth form, in Voluntary Aided schools (or their equivalents) shall receive RE in accordance with the institutions' trust deeds/articles of memorandum or similar.
- Parents have the right to withdraw their children from the whole or part of the RE curriculum, 'on grounds of conscience'. A student, once they have reached the age of 18 may withdraw themselves 'on grounds of conscience'.

Sixth Form Colleges:

- Sixth form colleges that were under school regulations until 30th September 1992 are required to provide RE for all students. A college governing body will be deemed to be performing this duty if RE is provided when it is convenient for the majority of full-time students to attend.
- It is for the governing body of a sixth form college to determine the content of the RE provided. This means that a sixth form college does not have to follow a locally Agreed Syllabus.
- The RE provided must 'reflect the fact that the religious traditions in Great Britain are in the main Christian, whilst taking account of the teachings and practices of the other principal religions represented in Great Britain' (Education Act 1996, section 375 (3)).
- In the case of a sixth form college, or its equivalent, that previously had voluntary aided status, the RE must be taught in accordance with the trust deeds of that institution.

THE CONTRIBUTION OF RE TO THE POST-16 CURRICULUM

RE has much to offer students of this age, both intellectually and personally. RE broadens and enhances the curriculum by giving students opportunity to consider a wide range of religious, philosophical and ethical issues and to develop their own codes of belief and behaviour.

It is recommended that students have a minimum of 18 hours of non-examined RE in year 12 and 12 hours of non-examined RE in year 13.

This is the equivalent of 3 challenge / enrichment days each term across year 12 and 2 challenge / enrichment days across year 13. RE could also be organised in weekly units within a broader personal, health, social education (PHSE) and citizenship programme. It is the choice of the school or Sixth Form College as to whether they offer drop-down days or an enrichment programme and there are relative strengths of either option.

RE at Post-16 should be planned carefully with due consideration given to:

- breadth and balance of knowledge, understanding and skills – further developing and building on the skills and aptitudes acquired during Key Stages 1 to 4 in order to enhance their critical thinking skills
- progression and continuity especially from Key Stage 4 and through the sixth form
- differentiation to meet the needs and abilities of the full range of students
- the spiritual, moral, social and cultural development of students
- preparation for work and adult life
- assessment and accreditation as applicable

POST-16 EDUCATION – GENERAL CONSIDERATIONS:

There are a wide range of academic and vocational pathways of study available to sixth formers. The academic study of RE, through externally assessed courses in Religious Studies (RS), is a choice some may make. Whether this choice is made by the individual or not, opportunities to broaden and deepen their knowledge and understanding of worldviews as applied to spiritual, moral, social and cultural questions contributes to enhancing both their academic and personal development.

Complementary studies at 16+

For the purpose of this syllabus ‘complementary studies’ refers to non-examined RE courses, however the school or sixth form college wishes to organise them. Different settings may have different titles for the part of the curriculum that includes RE, but all school sixth forms should make this clear in their prospectus in order to meet legal requirements, and allow for parental or student withdrawal. These complementary studies could be organised as, for example:

- weekly sessions
- modules that are part of a general PSHE, General Studies, Ethics or Citizenship programme
- modules as part of a cycle of complementary studies units or enrichment courses e.g. understanding the Christian doctrine of the Fall in relation to ‘Paradise Lost’ or investigating key issues and questions arising in relation to the whole subject e.g. ethical issues relating to modern applications of technology.
- day conferences / challenge / enrichment days

However RE is organised across the sixth form, it is important to build on previous knowledge and understanding as well as deepening skills and approaches to study. Some suggestions are included within this section.

EXAMINATION COURSES AT 16+

GCE A level Religious Studies

GCE A level courses in Religious Studies offer a wide variety of options including Biblical Studies, World religions and Philosophy and Ethics. It is recognised as an academic qualification by employers and for university entrance. It complements other areas studied such as English literature, history, geography, media studies and science. Many who opt for this course find it both stimulating and challenging. It successfully supports those wanting to go into a range of professions including for example, teaching, the police, law, health care, media and tourism.

General Studies A level: A range of GCE A level General Studies courses are available many of which require some work on religious and moral issues.

EPQ (Extended Project Qualification): This provides an opportunity for students to explore matters and gain credit for the study of religion, belief, and spirituality.

THROUGHOUT THE SIXTH FORM, STUDENTS SHOULD HAVE OPPORTUNITIES TO:

Deepen knowledge and understanding of Christianity, other principal religions, philosophies and worldviews by: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ exploring the nature of worldviews, religion and religious belief ○ analysing a variety of views on spiritual, moral and ethical issues ○ encountering representations of different worldviews in the world today including through media and the arts and analysing how these effect people’s views 	Enhance their own spiritual development by: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ reflecting on worldviews and their impact on individual and group behaviour ○ developing confidence in considering religious, ethical and philosophical questions ○ evaluating and developing their own responses to life’s issues ○ analysing a range of views about life’s issues, realising that questions raised are not easily answered
Further their understanding of the influence of worldviews through: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ investigating and assessing the implications of belonging to a religion or belief ○ making distinctions between secular and religious interpretations of life in modern society ○ considering the relationship between religious / non-religious belief and cultural identity 	Advance reasoned attitudes towards other people and their right to hold different beliefs by: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ developing the ability to articulate their own worldview and engage in respectful dialogue with others ○ considering minority viewpoints ○ recognising diversity and difference in worldviews, belief and practice ○ considering relationships between religious / non-religious belief and cultural practices

The pages following this contain some examples of how statutory RE for post-16 pupils might be achieved. These examples are non-statutory and may be adapted to suit local contexts.

EXAMPLES OF A ONE-DAY RE CONFERENCE

Advantages of a one-day conference:

- a community event for the whole sixth form
- involving larger numbers makes possible the best use of speakers, visits, theatre companies, etc.
- enables the RE department to 'draw in' colleagues from the wider staff team to use their expertise in other subject to add to the breadth of the day
- facilitates co-operation between colleges and schools and the wider community
- provides a day for some in-depth work

Possible Conference topics could include:

The relevance of Christianity today: a series of workshops, led by visiting speakers exploring the relevance of Christianity through a variety of perspectives include the law, education, politics, social values, media, science and the arts	Trade not Aid: consideration of fair trade issues, aid and development issues, community banking and credit unions. Does aid breed dependency and should instead trade be encouraged? Is that easy for someone in the affluent west to say? How do we work this out?
Interfaith Carousel – World Faiths and Beliefs today: an opportunity to meet briefly with Christians, Muslims, Sikhs and Humanists (or whatever combination best suits your needs) to gather a range of perspectives on given ethical/moral topics before working in groups to assess and express those responses and consider personal responses to them.	Worldviews in the local community: exploring local places of worship finding out about the history, beliefs and practices of each denomination and/or religion represented; how relevant is faith and belief within the local community? – examples of involvement.
Face value: an exploration of expressions of faith in language and literature, dance, drama, art and music. Exploring the significance and relevance of signs and symbols in religion and belief and personal responses to them.	Religious values v British values: considering 'British values' as identified by the DfE – democracy, the rule of law, individual liberty and mutual respect and tolerance; how far are these influenced by and/or in conflict with religious values?
Conflict and Reconciliation: a day of study looking at the involvement of religious and non-religious people in conflicts, as peacemakers or as participants, referring to religious ideas about violence, warfare and pacifism	Spiritual reflections: a range of opportunities to explore what is meant by 'the spiritual' through workshops, meditation, silence, music and art
Feasting and Fasting: religious and ethical perspectives on food-related issues such as vegetarianism, world development, ritual and food, celebrations	Saving the world: global, environmental and development issues through the work of religious and secular charities and pressure groups.

ENRICHMENT OF EXAMINATION COURSES THROUGH RELIGIOUS EDUCATION – SOME EXAMPLES

Another effective way of giving students the opportunity to benefit from an RE element in the curriculum is for the RE department to provide classes that support examination courses. These classes may be planned by the RE staff in conjunction with colleagues from other disciplines, who may themselves be prepared to teach classes with appropriate support from the RE department.

This method should not be the only provision for the statutory RE curriculum in schools, since it is unlikely to be capable of delivering the agreed syllabus adequately.

The classes may take the form of:

- one or two sessions that contribute to students' knowledge and understanding of an aspect of the subject studied (e.g. understanding the Christian doctrine of the Fall in relation to 'Paradise Lost');
- a short series of lessons in which students might investigate key issues and questions arising in relation to the whole subject (e.g. investigating ethical issues relating to modern applications of technology).
